1,000 BABIES ARE STARVING

As Result of Milk Supply Being Shut Off.

LIVERPOOL IS TODAY A BELEAGUERED CITY

Warship Guards Harbor and Soldiers Patrol Streets.

Everywhere the Threatening Guns of the Military Confront Workmen Who Have Been Locked Out at the Docks and Who Are Now Facing Starvation — Government May Resort to Heroic Measures.

London, Aug. 17.—With England facing famine, the impending strike of railway employes throughout the United Kingdom was ordered tonight

One hundred and twenty-five thousand men are expected to respond

The government took immediate steps to prevent complete paralysis of traffic and soldiers will be thrown into the places left by the workers. Troops are expected to man the roads and keep food supplies moving.

Strike leaders assert they will tie up every important railroad in the country and that the soldiers will be unable to move enough trains to keep London supplied with food. The railway managers said tonight that they believe from twenty-five to fifty per cent of their employes will remain loyal Offers of large bonuses were made to all men who stand by the companies.

Already London and Liverpool, the central points of traffic, are bristling with the guns of the military.

Coupled with the stern measures adopted by the government come predictions from many quarters that bloodshed is certain to follow an extended effort to operate the roads during the strike.

At 6 o'clock, tonight, the officials of the Railway Employes' association telegraphed orders for an immediate strike to all unions throughout the United Kingdom.

Troops are being entrained at Aldershot as rapidly as possible and rushed to various strategic points, where they can be utilized to control the situation Three thousand additional men have reached this city and are being held awaiting orders.

A Beleaguered City.

Liverpool, Aug. 17.—Liverpool is today a beleaguered city. The warship, Antrim, is guarding the harbor and upwards of 5,000 troops are encamped on the city streets. Everywhere the threatening guns of the military confront the workmen who have been locked out at the docks and who now face starvation.

The admiralty is rushing more warships to the harbor. The word has been given out that the war vessels are to protect shipping. There has been no attack upon shipping and the local authorities do not even blame the strikers and locked-out workmen for the disturbances in the streets

The warships probably will be used in unloading the vessels on which the ship owners refuse to permit the dockers to work. Troops and seamen will do the work, side by side, it is said. There are hundreds of thousands of tons of provisions in the ship bottoms. They have lain in the harbor for three days, while the docks have been closed and men have been turned away from work with the declaration that no movement of traffic will be undertaken until conditions are such as suit the employers.

Authorities of the port declare that the only means to relieve the famine conditions is by forcibly unloading the ships in the harbor.

Workmen are protesting against the employment of the troops and marines They say a majority of the dock workers have only presented grievances when the docks were closed to them. A bitter feeling prevails throughout the city.

Babes Face Death.

Liverpool, Aug. 17.—More than 30,000 babies and double that number of children of tender years are actually starving to death in Liverpool today as the result of the shutting off of their milk supply Their parents, impotent to relieve them, are besieging the city government offices begging and praying for food for their children, but nothing can be done to relieve the situation.

In addition, all supplies of foodstuffs are already below the danger point and adults will also be facing starvation before many hours.

Situation in London.

London, Aug 17.—Instead of putting into effect the threatened countrywide strike at 8 o'clock this morning, the executives of the four leading railway unions suspended their strike order and went into conference with President Buxton, of the board of trade.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Railway Employes' federation held before this conference, it was determined that there should be no settlement unless the ship owners of Liverpool rescind their order locking out the dock workers

Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the labor party in parliament, was present at the conference of union representatives with the board of trade officials. This is taken to indicate that the labor party is giving its support to the negotiations for a settlement.

All night long, desperate efforts were made by representatives of the employes, the railroad managers and the government to avert the crisis. MacDonald held several conferences with the railway union executives and it is believed he was the bearer of important news from the government.

Refuses To Treat.

Although the railway managers still refuse to treat with the strikers except through the conciliation board it was expected that they would make some concessions acceptable to the men at the eleventh hour.

A settlement has been reached with the street car and underground railway employes of London, but these, it is declared, will walk out if the general railway strike is declared. Application has come to the admiralty from the governor of the Isle of Man, asking for a cruiser to transport supplies to 60,000 people there who are almost without food and face famine.

ADJOURNMENT IS POSTPONED

Democrats Think Tariff Needs More Revising.

DEBATE BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

Stormy Conference Said To Have Been Held.

Democrats Have Little Hope of Getting Proposed Legislation Past Taft's Veto Power, but Get Tip from La Follette That They May in Near Future Need Services of His Insurgent Band.

Washington, Aug. 17. — Congress will not adjourn Saturday as expected, and the dreams of members who had hoped to get away on vacations were blasted when it was announced that senate Democrats in a caucus had decided to enter upon a more general revision of the tariff than has heretofore been contemplated. The Democratic senators were in a conference behind closed doors, and after a stormy debate the sense of the conference was finally taken as in favor of a vote on the house cotton bill, together with Senator Cummins' amendment revising the iron and steel schedules and Senator Overman's amendment revising the chemical schedule, or so much of it as relates to the cotton manufacturing industry.

In taking this action the Democrats are playing politics. They know there is no hope of getting any tariff legislation past President Taft. Senator LaFollette has been shaking his finger at the Democratic leaders for several days and warning them that they might find themselves in embarrassing circumstances if they did not co-operate with him and his band of insurgents. His arguments and threats have finally prevailed. The action of the Democratic caucus will postpone adjournment of congress for at least another week, and possibly until Sept 1.

TAFT WOULD GO TO CALIFORNIA

All Depends on the Adjournment of Congress.

Washington, Aug. 17.—President Taft told a delegation of California today that he would attend the ceremonies incident to breaking ground for the Panama-Pacific exposition in 1915, early next October. "if congress adjourned within a reasonable time." It was said that the executive was of the opinion he could be present, if adjournment came by September 1.

Every member of the California congressional contingent and the two senators were present to urge the president to attend.

COLONEL TAKES RESPONSIBILITY

Roosevelt Has No Apologies To Offer Public.

ACTED FOR THE BEST IN STEEL SITUATION

Says Motive of Trust No Concern of His.

Roosevelt Declares His Concern Is That Action Should Be Taken and Situation Saved in Interests of the People of the United States. Says People Are Saved from Misery and Suffering.

New York, Aug. 17.—Emphasizing his desire to shoulder the entire responsibility for permitting the steel trust to gobble up the Tennessee Coal & Iron company, during the panic days of 1907, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, in a signed editorial in a New York magazine, today, declares he has no apologies to offer to the public for what he did.

"Nobody need feel either concern or hope as to whether anything done by my administration will be 'discovered,'" he says, "for the excellent reason that there is nothing that was hidden. It was not my business, neither was it in my power, to search the hidden domain of motive, and my action was conditioned not upon what I believed to be the motives actuating the steel company, but upon my belief that the move it proposed taking would be enormously to the benefit of the community at large at that particular moment.

"Whether the chief motive of the steel company's action was to absorb the Tennessee Coal & Iron company, or whether its chief motive was to save the threatened New York firm from failure—Moore & Schley, stock brokers—and thereby stop the panic, was of no concern to me. That both motives were in its mind I thought possible, and still think possible. What was the predominant motive was of no consequence.

The Chief Concern.

"My concern was that the action should be taken and the situation saved in the interests of the people of the United States. Most people have short memories, but if any one will look back and think the situation over carefully, he will understand it was not a question of saving any bank or trust company from failure; the question was of saving the plain people, the common people, of all parts of the United States from dreadful misery and suffering; and this was what my action did.

"One of the questions put to me indicated disbelief that the action taken was really efficient in stopping the panic. At the time and for some months thereafter, no man would have ventured to express such disbelief unless prepared to be greeted with derision by every human being who knew anything whatever of the actual facts.

"The action taken was in my judgment the only action that would stop the panic, and it most certainly was of enormous, and in all human probability, of decisive, influence in actually stopping it.

"Certain other questions related to the enormous value of the coal and ore lands of the T. C. I. has no bearing on the purchase of four years ago. The purchase as made did not by itself affect the statue of the steel corporation so far as the Sherman law was concerned. I dealt with facts as they were, not with facts as they might afterward become."

WOMAN BARKS AND FROTHS AT MOUTH

Hydrophobia Develops After Five Years, Say Doctors.

New York, Aug. 17.—Barking and frothing at the mouth, Mrs. Amanda Irwin, confined in the psychopathic ward of Bellevue hospital, is, today, suffering from one of the worst cases of hydrophobia that ever came to the attention of the hospital staff.

It was five years ago that Mrs. Irwin was bitten by a dog, now supposed to have been rabid, but it was not until a few days ago that she developed symptoms of hydrophobia. She was attacked in the night, her screams arousing a whole city block and when she was removed to the hospital, was in a state of collapse from hysteria.

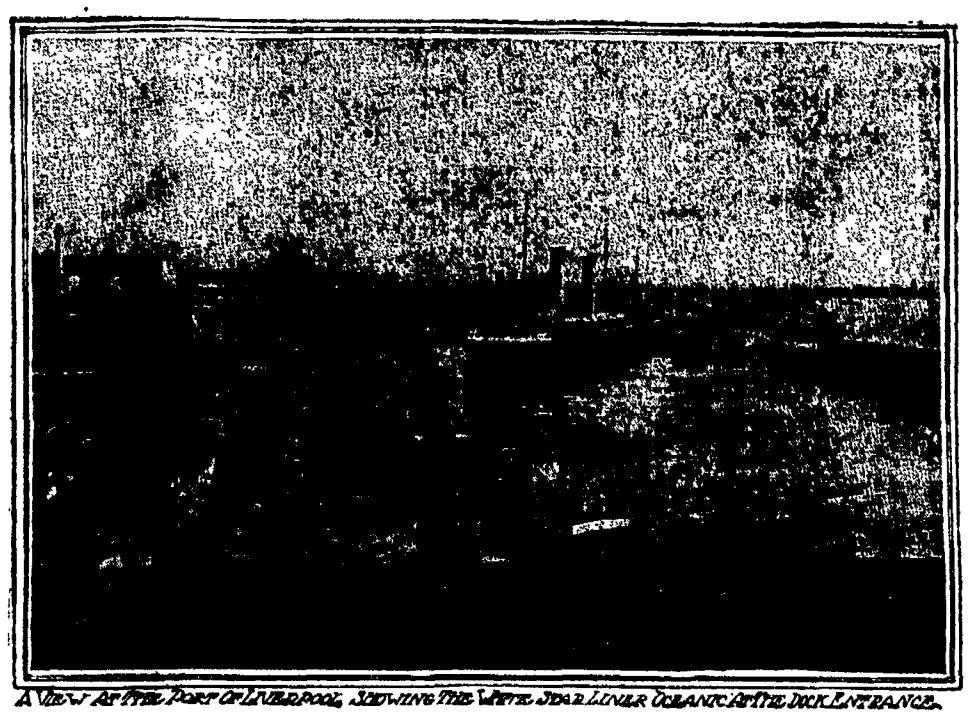
RIOTING CONTINUES IN LIVERPOOL STRIKE—TROOPS STILL OUT



A VIEW AT THE PORT OF LIVERPOOL, SHOWING THE WHITE STAR LINER OCEANIC AT THE DOCK ENTRANCE.

Troops continue to pour into the terror stricken city of Liverpool, England, where for the last week or so a strike of dock laborers has caused much disorder, resulting in rioting, wherein several were killed and many injured. Shipping is at a standstill and transatlantic liners have been unable to dock. Every effort is being made to bring about an amicable adjustment of the trouble, but the outlook is not very bright.

FIND GIRL WITH BABE ON BREAST

California Dentist May Be Involved in Case.

SCHOOLGIRL PLEADS FOR MARRIED MAN

After Being Found in Room Adjoining Office.

Young Girl Missing Fifteen Months, Is Found by Police Near Dentist's Office, Where She Had Given Birth to Child, Claiming Doctor Had Hynotized Her, but Later She Denies This.

San Bernardino, Calif., Aug. 17.—"Please take me back again to him. I love him better than anything else in the world. For my sake and for the sake of his other family, do not prosecute him. It would kill me if anything should happen to him"

Jessie McDonald, the high school girl, mother of a four months' old baby, who was found in a room adjoining the office of A. W. McDavit, a dentist, after she had been missing fifteen months, thus pleaded with the district attorney and the police today.

After first charging that she had been held prisoner under hypnotic influence, the girl denied these charges and insisted no wrong had been done her.

McDavit is a prisoner, but no formal charge has been placed against him.

The girl disappeared from her home here in May, 1910. She was found in a room adjoining the dentist's office, holding a baby to her breast. She was ragged, unkempt and pitifully emaciated

The girl at first declared she had been imprisoned in this room by McDavit ever since she disappeared and said the dentist exercised a hypnotic influence over her, making it impossible for her to escape. During her entire confinement, she said, she had not left the small room in the day time and only twice at night.

McDavit is married

MEXICANS LAUD PRESIDENT'S VETO

Taft Commended for Stand on the Recall Question.

Washington, Aug 17.—While hundreds of messages were received at the White House yesterday praising President Taft for his veto aimed at the recall of judges in the Arizona constitution, there was one that was most unexpected. It was a telegram from a half-dozen citizens of New Mexico, which is kept out of the union as well as Arizona by veto

"The majority of the Republican party, as well as the majority of the people of this territory," read the telegram, "wish to extend to you our hearty congratulations on your message vetoing the Flood resolution. We prefer a delay for another year if necessary rather than endorse the recall of the judiciary in Arizona"

In the reply the president sent the following telegram:

"I thank you very much for your kind telegram of August 15. The spirit with which you bear the disappointment of delayed statehood reassures me and strengthens my convictions with respect to the performance of an unpleasant duty."

LUNACY COMMISSION FOR HARRY K. THAW

Young Pittsburgher's Wife Wants a Share of Income.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 17.—Asking for a lunacy commission for Harry K Thaw, now confined in the Matteawan hospital in New York, a petition was presented by Attorney Francis Rawle, of Philadelphia, before Judge L. L. Davis, in common pleas court number three here, yesterday, in behalf of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, his wife.

After considerable discussion as to whether the local courts have jurisdiction, Judge Davis permitted the petition to be filed and gave Attorney Rawle permission to bring the matter up again in court as soon as the proper persons have been notified of the proceedings.

Mr. Rawle said that Thaw has an income of about $60,000 a year, which he said is being paid to the assignees in bankruptcy of Thaw, which Mr. Rawle alleges is unlawful. He declared Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is without means and is entitled to a share of the income of her husband.

A SOFT PEDAL ON EQUALITY NOTIONS

That's Advice of Arkansas Governor to Negroes.

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 17.—"Don't waste your time running around begging for social equality; be contented with the progress you are making industrially," is the advice given by Governor Donaghey in his address of welcome to the National Negro Business Men's league here Wednesday. Governor Donaghey and Booker T. Washington entered the auditorium together and were given an ovation by 3,000 negroes lasting fifteen minutes

The governor praised negroes for a characteristic of loyalty as shown their masters during the civil war, and urged negroes, particularly in the South, to give attention to industrial training and to put a soft pedal on "equality notions."

WET AND DRY FIGHT IN THE SUCKER STATE

Illinois Anti-Saloon League Sounds First Warning.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Politicians who see the "wet" and "dry" question involved in Illinois state factional disturbances, are not attempting to hide their alarm. It is already recognized that the liquor question promises to be a live issue in the impending statewide primary and probably in the election to follow.

The Illinois Anti-Saloon league forces have sounded their first warning. It is a statement issued to the "drys" by E. A. Scrogin, state superintendent of the league in Illinois. He warns that the situation in Illinois is vital and that it's important for the temperance forces to stand together as a compact body.

'Division will absolutely insure defeat," he said.

AVIATOR TAKES BATH IN LAKE

Arthur Stone's Queen Monoplane Makes Dive.

OTHER MISHAPS MAR THE MEET

Howard Gill Fails To Make the "Death Curve."

Aviator Falls Under His Machine, but Luckily Escaped Injury—Another Birdman Drops Into Gully Where Badger Meets His Death and Escapes Without a Scratch. Beachey Lands Big Money.

Chicago, Aug 17.—Several new sensations developed at the international aviation meet in this city. Arthur Stone, in a Queen monoplane, fell into Lake Michigan in the over-water speed race. Lincoln Beachy's engine died on him when he was 3,000 feet in the air and he volplaned the distance down, landing the Curtiss biplane directly in front of the judges' stand. Howard Gill fell when rounding "death curve," at the north end of the field. His Wright biplane turned completely over, but he escaped injury. Another aviator fell into "death hole," the sunken pit in the center of the field, in which William Badger was dashed to death, but both aviator and machine escaped injury.

The honors of the day fell to the Curtiss aeroplane and to Lincoln Beachy, who walked away with the largest money prizes. The results of the day were:

Speed race, six laps around the course, distance eight miles, won by Beachy in 9 minutes 28 3-5 second, prize $1,000; second, Earl L. Ovington; third, Jimmie Ward.

Across the lake, around the 3½-mile crib and the flying field, two laps, about 16 miles, first, Thomas Sopwith, time 17:07, prize $1,000; second, Rene Simon; third, Lincoln Beachy, third, Jimmie Ward.

It was a heavy day, with the wind blowing fitfully, and the aviators eyed the sky, sniffed the wind and shook their heads. They felt there were various air pockets, holes and cross currents that would twist and jerk the aeroplanes around very quickly, and they thought flying would be dangerous.

BRYAN CREATES A NEW TERM

He Calls Underwood a "Parquet" Statesman.

COMMONER AGAIN HITS CONGRESSMAN

Discusses Those Who Play to Galleries.

When Underwood Accuses Mr. James of Playing to the Galleries To Win Senatorial Fight, He Gives the Public an Inner View of Himself, Declares Mr. Bryan in Defending Attack on Ollie James.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 17.—William Jennings Bryan has created a new term in statesmanship and political annals. In this week's Commoner he says, commenting on Congressman Underwood's charge that Congressman James had "played to the galleries:"

"Mr. Underwood withdrew the language and apologized, but those who belong to Mr. Underwood's class will hardly give up the use of the term. We may expect to hear the defenders of the public denounced as gallery statesmen, just as we have heard them denounced as demagogues.

"But we can not think of a gallery statesman without thinking of the statesman who does not play to the gallery. What shall we call them? How would 'parquet' statesmen do? As Mr. Underwood prides himself that he does not play to the galleries, it is not unfair to assume that he plays to those who occupy seats in the parquet and in the private boxes. If he can afford to be a 'parquet' statesman, Mr. James can afford to be a 'gallery statesman.' How would it do to have an investigating committee see how many Democratic members take the galleries into consideration and how many give their attention exclusively to those who occupy the high-priced seats?"

Three Questions.

Bryan propounds these three questions for Underwood's consideration:

First—Why it irritated him to have Mr. James oppose a fifty-year lease to a water-power company?

Second—Why he impugned the motives of a fellow member of the ways and means committee?

Third—Why he used the stock phrase employed by the representatives of predatory corporations when they are denouncing those who defend public interests?

"Men like Mr. Underwood can not think of anything more offensive than to say of a man that he is 'making a play to the galleries.' When Mr. Underwood accused Mr. James of winning his senatorial fight by an appeal to the galleries, he gave the public an inner view of himself. He looks at questions from the plutocratic standpoint; he has contempt for those who appeal to the masses."

MOTHER AND BABE BLOWN FROM BED

Black Handers Get in Fiendish Work in New York.

New York, Aug. 17.—A mother and her new-born baby were literally blown from their bed in the Beehive section of New York's seething East Side early today. The outrage was committed by Italian Black Handers, enraged because a prospective victim had refused to pay tribute.

That both were not instantly killed was due entirely to the fact that the bed, in anticipation of the arrival of the stork, had been moved from its original place to the front of teh room. Because o fthe distardly nature of the crime, Police Commissioner Waldo and Inspector Hughes took personal charge of the detectives trying to find the dynamiters.

The woman was Mrs. Jennie Colarusso. Her boy baby was born just twenty-four hours before the attempt on his and his mother's lives. The exploding bomb threw them out of the bed onto the floor, where they were covered with plaster and falling debris. They were hurried to a hospital.

Fifty inmates of the house rushed to the streets in terror, when the explosion took place Antonio Colarusso, a retired wine and olive merchant, husband and father of the victims, told the police he had received letters signed by the Black Hand demanding money.

TWO AVIATORS DROP TO DEATH

Badger, an Amateur, Falls into a Deep Gully.

ST. CROIX JOHNSTONE IS DROWNED IN LAKE

Both Fatalities Occur at Chicago Meeting.

Deaths Have No Effect on the Other Birdmen as Two Other Accidents Follow Quickly—Brookins Falls on Same Spot Where Badger Is Killed and Aviator Frisbie Has a Collision.

Chicago, Aug 16. Two aviators William R. Badger of Pittsburg and St. Croix Johnstone of Chicago, both young men, lost their lives at the international aviation meet here in dying, both revealed the frailty of the craft in which two score more aviators were carving and gliding about the air with scarcely a pause for the deaths of their contemporaries.

Badger was killed before the eyes of thousands as he was attempting spectacular maneuvers. One of the wings of his machine came into contact with the bank of a deep gully. In an instant the plane seemed to go to pieces. Badger was picked up unconscious, bleeding from half a dozen wounds. Earl Ovington, one of the first to rush to his rescue, carried him to an ambulance. He declared Badger's neck was broken and his death certain. Before the excited throng could reach the dying aviator he had been hurried to an ambulance and taken to St. Luke's hospital. He died before the ambulance could reach its destination.

Just before this Badger had circled the course several times. He had been flying lower and lower and dipping occasionally over a deep gully in the center of the aviation field. One wing of the aeroplane broke as he swung about. Instantly the whole machine toppled into the pit. Badger was crushed beneath its weight.

Badger was on the field purely as an amateur He is the son of a well-known Pittsburg business man. He has made several successful flights since the meet began, being associated with Captain Baldwin. Before going into aviation Badger was an automobile racer.

Motor Blows Up.

St. Croix Johnstone was over Lake Michigan, a half mile off shore, when his motor blew up. Hugh A. Robinson, in his hydroplane, swooped down from 300 feet in the air in a thrilling but vain attempt to rescue him.

Johnstone fell into the water under his monoplane and was carried down underneath his engine. A fleet of motorboats took up the search for his body. The machine had disappeared.

Robinson declared he was within 300 yards of Johnstone when the latter's motor blew up and fell through the bottom of the machine. Johnstone jumped, he said, but the machine fell on top of him and both man and machine sank. Robinson thinks Johnstone may have been blown out of his car when the explosion occurred.

Johnstone was no relation of Ralph Johnstone, who was killed at Denver last year. He was a Chicago boy and a chum of Walter Brookins, who fell in the field almost at the same moment Johnstone's machine fell in the lake. Johnstone's body was recovered.

John J. Frisble, in a Baldwin biplane, met with an accident in the biplane speed contest. In attempting to descend the machine was tilted dangerously, and finally crashed into a pile of lumber near the scoreboard in the center of the field. Frisble was not injured.

Walter Brookins, accompanied by Francis W. Taylor, in a monoplane, crashed into the pit in the center of the field. They fell in the same spot were W. R. Badger was killed just an hour before. Their injuries were trivial.

STANDARD BREAD NEEDED BY PEOPLE

Some Facts Learned by Various Experiments.

Dr. Leonard Hill, the English physiologist, has made recently an interesting contribution to the question of what the English are now calling "standard bread," the standard containing about eighty per cent. of the total grain as against the seventy or seventy-three per cent. contained in the whiter bread now generally used.

Although the discussion has thrown much light upon the chemistry of flour and has served to show in how many ways flour is treated and how many things may be added to "improve" it, it has contributed but little to our knowledge of the physiological value of the different flours.

Dr. Hill has been conducting experiments on the nutritive value of white and of standard bread, using rats as subjects. He says that his results have been astonishing. Rats fed on white bread or flour did very badly. Many of them died; the others grew slowly, increased but slightly in weight in six weeks, after which time nearly all of them began to lose weight.

The rats fed on the standard bread or flour did much better; fewer of them died and their increase in weight was more than twice as great as in those fed on the white bread and flour. Dr. Hill concluded that either the standard flour contained something essential to growth which was not in the white flour or that the latter contained something detrimental "improvers" for example.

These are not the first experiments which show that different wheat breads have markedly different physiological effects. In bulletin 59 of the hygienic laboratory, Hunt states that mice fed upon the "white wheat bread" obtained from one Washington bakery showed but one-fourth the resistance to certain poisons that was shown by mice fed upon similar bread from another bakery, although doctors considered them equivalent.

It is quite probable says the New York Medical Journal that breads which have such markedly different effects upon lower animals would also have different effects upon infants and young children and perhaps upon adults especially in sickness. The lower animals are usually supposed to be constant and adaptable as regards food whereas the extreme sensitiveness of infants to slight changes in diet is well known.

Marriage licenses have been issued to Miss Nora M. Dennis and Fred W. Ley, both of this city, and Miss Gertrude Jefferson and John Harbman, colored, both of this city.

A daughter was born, Monday, to Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Wilson of West Columbia street.

MAN JUMPS THROUGH AN ERIE CAR WINDOW

Big Norwegian Escapes with Few Bruises.

IS RENDERED INSANE BY EXTREME HEAT

Man Is Taken to a Hospital in an Ambulance and Is Soon Able To Resume His Journey to His Home in Norway—Fortunate Ending of an Unusual Affair.

Diving through a raised window of eastbound Erie passenger train, No. 8, due here Monday at 5:30 a.m., Heimar Hyderston, a twenty-five-year old Norwegian, who is believed to have been rendered temporarily insane by Chicago's intense heat, miraculously escaped serious injury a mile west of the city when the train was going at a speed of twenty-five miles an hour.

Hyderston, who was enroute from Yankton, South Dakota, to his home in Norway, was taken from the train at Huntington, Sunday. He was sick and doctors said he was suffering from the effects of the heat. He had changed cars in the Windy City and complained of being ill at that time. After a few hours' rest in Huntington, Hyderston, said he was able to continue his journey.

Attracts Attention.

The trainmen noticed nothing particularly strange about the Norwegian. When the train neared this city he rose from his seat and remarked to the brakeman and conductor that they ought not to "kid each other the way they were doing" and then walked to the rear end of the car. The brakeman and the conductor were simply laughing over a good story related by a drummer.

Hyderston tried to open the door, but did not succeed and walked away. The brakeman, thinking that there might be something wrong with the big husky Norweigan, locked the door just as soon as he left it. No sooner had he done so than Hyderston made a dive for the window, going out head first. Fortunately for him he struck the ground instead of the steel of the several tracks near the freight transfer.

Suffers Slight Injury.

The only injury he sustained apparently was a bruised right hip. The Hess & Markert ambulance was summoned and he was removed to the Marion City hospital on Blaine avenue, where he remained for two hours and then continued his journey to New York, where he will sail for his home.

Hyderston appeared to be dazed for an hour and was unable to recall anything about his narrow escape from death or serious injury. When told about it he smiled blandly and asked, "Was I that big a fool?"

Hyderston has been in this country about five years and had been working for a brother in South Dakota.

GREAT BUGS RECEIVED AT UPPER SANDUSKY

Curiosities Sent from the Isthmus of Panama.

Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Jordan have received from the latter's brother, Charles W. Cramer, of Panama, formerly a resident of Upper Sandusky, a box containing a number of the native bugs, which abound on the Isthmus of Panama and which were found and mounted by Mr. Cramer. Many of the bugs sent belong to the same families that inhabit the state of Ohio, but their sizes are so much larger than those in the same families in this state, that a view of them makes one shudder.

In the collection there are ten bugs. The first is a rhinoceros bug and has the body dimensions of about two by three inches. A huge katydid measures in length four inches. A hooded bug, the bite of which is deadly poison, has the appearance of a green leaf. A grasshopper, which could easily swallow some of the local grasshoppers, is five inches long. There is a large wild bug, not of the 1896 variety, beautifully colored, and a male and female beetle, both of which have the dimensions of about one and one-half to three inches. A large diablo de jaguar has feelers eight inches long and a night moth measures about three-inches in length. There was also a scorpion and a brightly-colored snake, the bites of which cause almost instant death. Dr. Jordan also received a cane made of a very hard wood, which is a native of the isthmus, and a peculiar kind of shellfish. The curiosities will be placed in the front show window of the Herman Von Blon hardware store, Monday morning, for public inspection. As these pests are all dead, there is no danger of introducing a new variety in Wyandot county.—Upper Sandusky Chief.

AN APPRAISEMENT OF PROPERTY OF COMPANY

The Local Water Plant Is Valued at $240,000.

THE TAX COMMISSION OF STATE TAKES ACTION

When the Valuation Is Raised the Stockholders Enter No Protest. Money Is Being Spent Each Year in the Improvement of the Plant. Appraisement for Tax Purposes.

The property of the Marion City Water company has been appraised by the state tax commission at $240,000.

When James F. Prendergast, one of the big stockholders and officials of the corporation, was asked concerning the appraisement, Monday he referred the reporter to Attorney George B. Scofield, who said that a valuation had been placed on the company's property of $240,000.

"That's for taxation, of course," Mr. Scofield said. "We wanted to be fair under the one per cent. law and we turned in a valuation of $168,000 to the commission.

"Some time ago we received notice that our valuation had been increased to $240,000. We were very well satisfied. The hearing was set for last Friday, but we did not appear to protest against a $240,000 valuation."

Since a St. Louis expert, together with a citizens' committee, composed of Messrs. George W. King, W. H. Schaffner and John E. Waddell, fixed the valuation of the property at $220,000, about four years ago, Mr. Scofield declared that the company had expended on an average of $10,000 a year for improvements, with the exception of this year when about $28,000 will be expended for extensions and in the construction of a new reservoir.

Last year, under the old valuation law, the waterworks officials returned for taxation a total valuation of $60,078, of this amount $52,438 was for personal property.

At the time the waterworks property was appraised by the citizens' committee at $220,000, the company demanded $250,000 and the city declined to buy at that figure.

THIGHS ARE FRACTURED IN AN AUTO ACCIDENT

Harry Clark Is Very Badly Hurt Sunday Evening.

While enroute home from a picnic west of Monnette, Sunday evening, about 6 o'clock, Harry Clark, aged nineteen years, was struck by an automobile and suffered the fracture of both the bones of both thighs, and a number of serious bruises. It is also believed that he suffers of internal injuries.

At the time of the accident the victim was in company with others of his age, and as they walked along the road an automobile passed them. After it had passed, they returned to the middle of the road oblivious of the fact that another machine, being driven by Daniel Winch, of near Monnette was approaching not far behind Clark failed to get away in time and was struck, the machine partially passing over his body. The driver stopped and took the young man to the home of his step-father, Samuel Fleming, and then made a hurried trip to Wyandot county where he secured Dr. R. C. Alexander, an uncle of the victim, who with Dr C. L. Baker, of Kirkpatrick, and Dr. A. Rhu, of this city, gave him surgical attention.

Although very painfully injured, young Clark's condition is not believed to be critical.

TRAGIC CHAPTER IN LIFE OF UNFORTUNATE WOMAN

Mrs. Minnie A. Haines Is Taken to the Asylum.

DECLARED INSANE BY PROBATE COURT

Two Physicians Examine Mrs. Haines and Find That with Proper Care and Treatment She Will Recover. She Mourns the Loss of Her Little Daughter—A Sad Story.

Another tragic chapter was written in the life story of Mrs. Minnie A. Haines, Monday, in the probate court, when Drs. Fellmore Young and A. Melville Crane, after having examined her a number of times, pronounced her a victim of "confusional insanity," and Judge W. S. Spencer adjudged her insane and ordered her committed to the state asylum for the insane in Columbus.

Several weeks ago, when her husband, Albert Haines, of St. Mary's, Pennsylvania, obtained possession of the little girl whom the mother had abducted, Mrs. Haines was found wandering aimlessly through the streets by a policeman. After several days in jail, she was released and taken to the home of a brother, Marion Lyons, on Bartram avenue. She escaped from the Lyons home and was again found in the West End and was locked up again. This time an affidavit in lunacy was filed against her, but the examining physicians, Drs. Crane and Young, were unable to agree. Judge Spencer ordered her committed to the infirmary to await developments.

Superintendent Samuel Bader, of the infirmary, filed an affidavit in lunacy against the woman. Drs. Crane and Young then decided she was insane and she was taken to Columbus by Superintendent Bader and his wife Monday morning.

In their medical statement of the case, the doctors say:

"We think with good, kind care and food this woman will recover. She has had to work around in restaurants and had no care, etc. She is very intelligent and worthy of the best of care. Her vitality is low, with nervous state, and has had a great deal of family trouble, which is the cause of her condition."

All of the woman's ideas are confused. She does not remember her husband, and cries much about her little girl, who was taken back to Pennsylvania by the father, who discovered her whereabouts by reason of the mother's poverty and the newspaper notoriety following a whipping administered the child by the mother because she asked a neighbor for something to eat.

SERVICES OF SUNDAY IN THE LOCAL TEMPLES

Rev. Joseph Reinicke Is Heard with Interest.

REV. MR. REINICKE TO LEAVE CITY SOON

His Resignation Is Accepted by Congregation — Father Theodore Stuber at St. Mary's Church—The Services at Epworth M. E. Church. A Pleasing Address.

The resignation of Rev. Joseph Reinicke, pastor of the Salem's Evangelical Protestant church, was accepted at a congregational meeting held at the church, Sunday morning. Arrangements were made with Secretary Lee Schoechle to correspond with the district president, who will send ministers here. A selection will be made by the congregation in the near future.

Rev. Mr. Reinicke tendered his resignation, last Sunday morning in order to go to Wooster to gain educational advantages for his children.

At the Sunday evening service, Rev. Mr. Reinicke preached a fine sermon and based his remarks on the text found in Matthew 6: 11, "Give us this day our daily bread."

"Very few realize what this petition means," the speaker said. "Few realize that it includes everything that pertains to our daily life, every need of the body, every opportunity for betterment, good government and all that directly or indirectly affects our daily life. Just as man can not live by bread alone for his soul, so man can not live without bread.

"God gives bread not only to those who ask, but to every one. If He only gave to those who ask, this world would soon be very thinly populated. He gives to all, because there is nothing to hinder him from manifesting his infinite mercy. No matter how deep we are in sin, God is merciful. Should He not ask those who eat and are not appreciative to share in the responsibility? Should he not ask some account of them?

"It is evident that the bread which Christ had in mind when he gave us this prayer was that earned by our own hard, earnest labors. Observing the people generally, we note that the people generally do not heed the lesson taught, but depend upon their own cunning and energy to get their food more quickly than those who pray for it. The Christian, however, is ever happy, knowing that God is the giver of all blessings. Some would say, why should we offer this petition when we earn it by our own labors? It is because every gift is from God, and everything that we have in this life either directly or indirectly comes from God.

"The thought which Christ would have us gain in this prayer is that we are dependent upon God. He would have us know that man need never worry about the morrow. God would have no idlers in his kingdom, so that we can not give ourselves over to charity."

At Epworth Church.

Dr. D. H. Bailey preached at the Epworth M. E. church, Sunday morning, on, "Seeing Men as Trees Walking." He took his text from St. Mark 8:22:26.

Dr. Bailey said that one of the most interesting things to him was to watch the awakening of a child to consciousness of the things about it. To see its look of wonder as it comes in contact with strange people and strange things. He said that the same thing applies to men and women when they awake in a new-spiritual life.

Dr. Bailey said that people wonder why there are so many mysteries in the world, why people die and go to their graves, why their is so much sin and sorrow in the world. They wonder why a young man in the prime of his life with so many prospects before him sickens and dies on the very threshold of his life. Even the family does not understand, and the world must remain in silence. These are the mysteries they can not solve. People keep on wondering why there is sin in the world, why these infirmities and afflictions, annoyances and obstacles. So from the awakening of the child to consciousness, on through life, this still remains a wonderful world, shrouded in mystery.

"But this mysterious and strange thing may receive an answer," said the speaker. "No man is held accountable because he is born blind, it is not a sin to be born blind. No man is a sinner because he is ignorant or childish, but it is quite certain that God did not intend him to remain in that state. He intended him to come into full growth and not remain as a child. First there should come the natural order of the awakening and development of the human mind. We begin to learn things as a child, and from that beginning we take the next step and then the next. After we learn the first principals it is not mysterious at all.

"The religion of Jesus Christ furnishes such an atmosphere of clearing our vision that the darkness is taken away and the man whose soul is in darkness comes into the light. So, as you and I look out on this world of wonders it takes the touch of the Master's hand to guide us into the light of knowledge and understanding. And when Jesus Christ touches our soul what a beautiful world this is. All nature seems to be shouting the praises of God. No man is able to see this world who is blind spiritually until he comes into this blessed relationship of Jesus Christ."

Conducts First Mass.

Rev. Father Theodore Stuber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Stuber, of north Prospect street, conducted his first mass in this country at St. Mary's Catholic church, Sunday morning. The church was crowded to its capacity, the congregation including many Protestant friends of Rev. Father Stuber. Rev. Father Stuber was assisted in conducting the mass by Rev. Father Braschler, of Bucyrus, as deacon, and Rev. Fathers Louis Evers, Henry Waldhaus and Joseph Wernke, of Cincinnati, as sub-deacons. Rev. Father Stuber conducted the mass in excellent voice.

Rev. Father Denning delivered the discourse, making a very strong talk on the honor that should be shown the members of the priesthood, not from a personal point of view, nor for the reason that they spend much time in preparing themselves, but for the position they hold as servants of God. He spoke of how Christ was betrayed by Judas, of how Peter and other apostles fell as a result of a little feeling against them, and pleaded that the people show a good spirit toward Rev. Father Stuber, and assist him in the great task that has fallen to his lot.

The music at the services was of a special nature, the men's choir singing and the vocal solo work being beautifully rendered by Jules Martin, who sang the offertory, and James Walsh and Gustavus Ramroth. The choir and soloists were accompanied by Miss Nona Kelly, who presided at the organ, Dr. Robert Ramroth, on the cello, and Charles Wissler on the violin.

Bids Rejected.

At the meeting of Safety Director J. A. Knapp with his clerk, C. M. Tobin, Saturday, when bids were received for the erection of a new fire station, all bids were rejected and the clerk was authorized to readvertise for bids. Four bids were received, only three of which were considered, one being without the necessary deposit in good faith.

It may be that the only reason that neither Mr Hearst of the New York Journal nor Mr Pulitzer of the New York World has taken the credit for the ratification of the arbitration treaties as each did for the signing is that they have not yet been ratified But no doubt each will look after this important detail so soon as they are

AIRMAN FOLLOWS RAILROAD TRACKS

Leaves Lake Shore as Guide to Sandusky

When Aviator Leaves Park in Toledo for Flight the Bay Shore Is Black with Humanity—Hundreds Are on Hand Early—Some Stay Up All Night—Course and Time of Aviator

Venice O Aug 17 Aviator H J S Atwood flying from Buffalo to New York completed the seventh stage of his flight when he arrived here at 11 o'clock this morning from Toledo a distance of forty-five miles Atwood left Toledo at 10 o'clock covering the forty five miles in one hour and three minutes

Atwood alighted in a field and took an automobile into Sandusky three miles from here inspected the spot where he is expected to land on

Atwood has now traveled a distance of 66 miles in stretches of from forty-five to 100 miles each and has been in the air twelve hours and five minutes

The countryside between Toledo and Sandusky was massed with spectators most of whom were massed upon the bank of the lake It had been expected that Atwood would take the water route from Toledo eastward

Follows Tracks

Atwood took the railroad tracks as his guide instead He followed the Wheeling & Lake Erie from Toledo to Oak Harbor and thence followed the tracks of the Lake Shore until he came in sight of Venice

Here is the record of his trip from Toledo to Sandusky

Crossed Maumee river 10 2; Genoa 10 8 Rocky Ridge 10 1 Oak Harbor 11 1 Le Carne 11 06 Port Clinton 11 1 Gypsum 11 18 Bayridge 11 -1

Atwood left Venice at 1 15 and landed safely in Sandusky at 1 50

Standard After Atwood

Cleveland Aug 1 —The Standard Oil company may delay Aviator Atwood's record breaking trip by seizing the machine on an attachment writ when he lands at Euclid Beach

An attachment was issued in the justice court today at the request of Attorney S M Forser representing the Standard Oil company for a bill for $ 00 for gasoline and oil used by Atwood on his trip from Boston to New York The New York Boston flight was made two weeks ago as a preliminary to the present flight

A constable has been stationed at Euclid Beach to serve the papers as soon as Atwood arrives A message from the Boston officials indicates that the attachment may be lifted immediately and Atwood allowed to continue his flight tomorrow as it is believed the matter is just an oversight on his part

Venice the park on the bay shore was black with humanity as early as 4 o'clock Hundreds were on hand at 6 o'clock and a few remained all night long, not wishing to take any chances on the aviator's making an unannounced departure

On the beaches are seen many of the old bathing suits with white empire sleeves

HOUSE PASSES FREE LIST BILL

Is Ready for Signature of Veto of President.

LEMONS ARE CUT OUT OF MEASURE

Corn, Said To Be "Joker," Is Also Eliminated.

President Says He Will Sign Compromise Bill Admitting Arizona to Statehood—Several Amendments Are Made to the Cotton Tariff Revision Measure—Coal To Be Reciprocally Free

Washington Aug 17—The conference report of the farmers free list bill passed the house today and the measure will be ready for the signature or veto of President Taft when the senate accepts two minor amendments

The house practically agreed to the bill in the form in which it passed the senate withdrawing its amendment placing lemons on the free list

It insisted however on the elimination of corn from the two paragraphs in which reciprocal admission of free grains and meats was made a condition precedent to the free listing of these products

Corn it was said was a joker which would have prevented operation of the paragraphs

The senate will undoubtedly accept the bill as agreed to by the house

An amendment by Jones Republican of Washington to reduce the duty on sugar to 95 100 of a cent a pound was defeated twenty four to thirty three

In the course of the debate on the report Minority Leader Mann denounced Underwood for what he said was his failure to force the senate to accept the house bill He referred to Senator LaFollette as a colossus astride the capitol of the United States with one foot on the senate and the other on the house

Mann asserted Underwood now appeared before the house as the discredited tool of another man by reason of his failure to stand out for the house bill

Taft Approves Bill.

Washington Aug 17—Senator Smith Republican of Michigan chairman of the senate committee on territories, announced today at the White House that President Taft had given his approval to a compromise bill framed by the senate and house territories committees admitting Arizona and New Mexico to statehood The measure eliminates the recall of the judiciary from the Arizona constitution

Smith said President Taft told him that if the house and senate passed the new measure he would sign it

The new measure as agreed upon by the committee makes statehood for Arizona contingent upon that territory voting to eliminate the recall of the judges from their constitution New Mexico will be admitted whether or not it adopts a new plan for making its constitution more easily amendable

Amendments Made

Washington Aug 17—In the senate this afternoon immediately after consideration of the cotton tariff revision bill was begun the amendment by Cummins Republican of Iowa to add a revision of the steel schedule to the measure was adopted twenty eight to twenty three A moment later an amendment by Simmons Democrat of North Carolina to reduce tariff duties on machines used in the manufacture of cotton was adopted thirty six to twenty two

An amendment by Watson Democrat of West Virginia that coal be reciprocally free between the United States and Canada was adopted

An amendment by Overman Democrat of North Carolina making a number of changes in the chemical schedule was adopted twenty seven to twenty two

A Safe Bet

Washington Aug 17 Representative Godwin Democrat of North Carolina admitted today he has a standing bet with a colleague that either Sen or Hepburn Republican of Idaho or Cummins Republican of Iowa will be speaking at 12 0 every day He has collected the money for the last fifteen days

J. G. MANN INJURED IN A RUNAWAY THURSDAY

Suffers a Dislocated Shoulder and a Broken Thumb.

J. G. Mann, of Mt. Vernon avenue, who buys cream for the Marion Pure Milk company, while driving over his route, Thursday was badly injured in a runaway.

Mr. Mann was driving his horse at a slow trot seven miles west of the city about noon, when the accident occurred. He was doing some figuring, when suddenly the horse jumped. Mr. Mann caught the lines and called to the horse to stop. The animal stopped so suddenly that the wagon ran into it. This frightened the horse and it began to run. Mr. Mann, who was sitting between two ten-gallon cream cans, managed to put down the top of the wagon and was preparing to jump out when the horse ran into a fence, one shaft striking a gate-post, upsetting the wagon and throwing the unfortunate man over the fence. Mr. Mann struck on his left shoulder, which was dislocated. He also broke the thumb of his right hand and suffered severe bruises over his body. The animal freed itself from the rig and ran down the road where it was stopped by C. B. Bish, uninjured.

The wagon was turned completely over and all the cream cans were thrown into the road, but not a drop of cream was spilled.

Mr Mann was brought to this city by J. B. Williams, of Green Camp, in an auto, and taken to the Dr. C. E. Sawyer sanitorium where his injuries were given attention.

Mr. Mann will not be able to work for several weeks.

Many other questions equally as important to the public at large will be taken up. There is nothing narrow or shortsighted in the movement The idea is to benefit the most people, regardless of color, creed or position.

Features of the Convention.

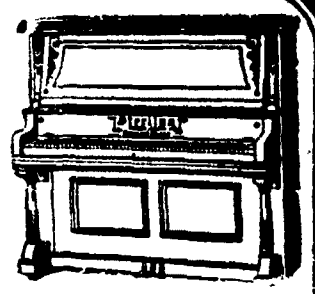
LET US ADVISE YOU IN YOUR PURCHASE OF A

PIANO.



IT WILL PAY YOU TO CONSULT US

Hundreds have found our advice regarding the purchase of a piano valuable. We have often stated that no one should suffer thru having trusted our judgment. We mean just exactly what we say.

We know a good piano when we see and try it. We know a bad one too. We know most of the bad ones by reputation without trying them, and just as it is wise to ask a banker regarding a bond which you may contemplate buying, it is wise to ask a reliable piano house about a piano you may think of buying.

Not all pianos are bad, but it is a lamentable fact that there are more poor pianos made than good ones. This would not be true if everybody was a judge.

We know pianos. We buy and sell good ones because that's the kind that makes friends for us.

It will pay you to consult us before you buy a piano. We can not only save you disappointments, but we can tell you how to save money.

"Respectfully submitted,
"C. L Allen, Auditor."

THE PREACHER IN JAIL.

by William T. Ellis.

The International Sunday-School Lesson for August 20 is, "Jeremiah Cast into Prison." Jeremiah 37.

Happily, there are some things hard for the people of this day and land to understand. An oriental dungeon is one of these. Everybody reads about dank dungeons, but few understand as they read. A visit to the Mamertine prison in Rome, where Paul was confined, or, better, to the lately discovered prison of the tower of Antonio, Jerusalem, enables one to see the actuality. The visitor inspects the rock-hewn prison cells in the tower of Antonio, and they are terrible enough; but he is bidden to look down through a small hole in the floor, and there, by the light of a lowered candle, he sees that unspeakable horror, an inner dungeon. Out of the solid rock has been cut a small room, into which the light of day has never penetrated. Noon and night are alike there. There is absolutely no opening except this one hole in the roof, like unto nothing so much as the mouth of an eastern well. No drains or exits are in the room, and no means of ventilation. Civilization cried aloud over the black hole of Calcutta; but every oriental dungeon was such a black hole.

It was into a vile den of this sort, such as no menagerie would be permitted to use for wild beasts nowadays, that the sensitive, finely-tuned and nervous old man, Jeremiah, who represented the highest culture of his time, was thrown. Many another servant of Jehovah has shared a similar fate before and after him. The grim reality and brutishness of it all is worth recalling, in this delicate day, when the person who is merely gossiped about, or criticised, of slighted, is quick to call himself a martyr. Let us save the big words for worthy occasions. When a man has suffered as Jeremiah suffered for the truth, he may be permitted to regard himself as a martyr—but he will not. He will be so engrossed in the cause of truth that he will forget to think about himself. Truth's light may make a dungeon bright.

Enemies as a Life Factor.

Jeremiah found himself in prison upon the present occasion because he had made enemies. His previous utterances had assured him a vigorous crop of these, who, while they might not appear for a time, were silently awaiting their chance. 'You may as well make up your mind to it," said a friend to a reformer who had antagonized great interest, "that for the rest of your life you are going to have the secret enmity of organizations. They may at times flatter and use you, but you have shown yourself an enemy of the 'gang' principle in politics and religion, and organizations are good and patient haters." That is part of the cost of speaking a message of truth which every modern prophet should learn. Whoso espouses truth's cause must expect the enmity of truth's foes. Sometimes he must be content with the consciousness that he is on God's side, for otherwise he will be very lonely, and many a bitter cup will be brewed for his lips by the relentless wage-slaves of error.

High as is its cost, the life of the iron-souled man is profitable to himself and to the world. What if the world were made up of polite, purring, compliment-exchanging, complacent servants of the day's fashion? Suppose there were no martyrs on the pages of history, no Puritans, exiled for conscience's sake, no Covenanters meeting on the moors of Scotland, no Luthers defying the high and mighty of the day? Take from this western continent the pioneers, who, in New England, Canada, Virginia, Pennsylvania, and the new West, followed the flaming torch of idealism and of loyalty to their heart's highest convictions? Today these men and women and the meat and drink of the whole world; civilizations of which they knew nothing are thronging to the light they kept burning. Jeremiah in heaven knows that his enemies and sufferings were inconsiderable, when seen in the light of that realm where truth is the unquestioned law and glory.

The Man at the Gate.

President Eliot once said that the peril of secret influence is one of the menaces of American life. He had some knowledge of the intricate and powerful ramifications of that dangerous thing commonly called "pull." It was this that laid Jeremiah by the heels. He was on his way out of the city of Jerusalem, upon perfectly legitimate business, the siege having temporarily been lifted, when Irijah, a captain on duty at the Benjamin gate, accused him of being a traitor. Now Jeremiah was known to all Jerusalem as a great prophet and patriot, but back of Irijah were the princes whose war policy he had denounced, and who seemed to be stronger than even the king himself. These men cherished a grudge against Jeremiah, and this was their opportunity to find a plausible excuse for persecuting him. So to prison he was hurried, there to undergo, with frame emaciated by the rigors of the siege, the stench, filth, darkness, hardness and hunger of a dreadful dungeon. Because the "organization" had a man, all unsuspected, at the gate, they scored a temporary victory over the fearless prophet.

Things looked blue for Jeremiah. He had prophesied that the Chaldeans would conquer and burn the city, because the people would not turn to the true God. But now news had come that Pharoah and his army were advancing against the hosts of Babylon, who temporarily withdrew from the wall of the city of Jerusalem, which they had so long been besieging. The Jews took heart of hope; they would trust in Egypt for deliverance, for Egypt seemed so much more real and potent than an invisible Jehovah. It is the way of man to trust God only when there is no arm of flesh upon which to lean. In spite of all prophecies, and all history, the remnant of the Jews were confident that Egypt would be their deliverer. Alas for reliance upon man, when one is fighting against God.

Patience of the Prophet.

Because he held life in proportion Jeremiah was better fitted to endure the prison than was the poor timorous king, so soon destined to the same fate in a worse form. He had resources within himself, like the scores of other servants of God, whose free spirits no dungeons could confine. As Milton sang, "The mind is its own place, and of itself can make a heaven of hell." Hard indeed would have been the lot of Jeremiah, had he been like so many persons, interested chiefly in the non-essential things of life. Some men resemble the average tourist, who goes about the world blind to the real sights and interests of various lands, and chiefly concerned in the table fare and the lodging accommodations of the various hotels and steamships they meet. It is hard for an observant person not to feel something akin to contempt for the majority of globe-trotters whom he has met about the earth.

Jeremiah was a big man, by inside measurement. He had a self-contained life, and he could wait. No man is called to the prophet's office who is not possessed of unlimited patience; for the true prophet can not hope to see his message fulfilled within the span of an earthly life. Truth needs the eternal years, which are hers, for the working out of her purposes. But the exalted sense of the ultimate victory of truth sustains the prophet amid all adversities. He has pledged his soul's allegiance to her, and, come life or come death, it is all the same to him; he can not fail or betray truth. The sufferings he endures in her service are sweetened by the consciousness that he is fulfilling the highest destiny of mortal, and that he is in fellowship with all the free spirits of all time. Did not Jeremiah see Christ's day afar off, and exult?

"What matter, I or they,
Mine or another's day,
So the right word be said
And life the sweeter made?
"Ring bells, in far-off steeples,
The joy of unborn peoples;
Sound, trumpets, far-off blown,
Your triumph is my own."

When King Seeks Out Prisoner.

This present triumph the servant of truth has: high or low must be judged by the word of truth that is in his mouth. In all crises the man with the word of truth takes rank above all others; even at the recent coronation of the king of England the representative of religion, from whose hands the king received his crown, seemed for the moment greater than the king himself. The coronation brought freshly home to Great Britain the religious significance of her greatest national experiences. So in his prison Jeremiah was sought out by King Zedekiah, and asked if there was any word from Jehovah. Prison had not taken away the prophet's loyalty to his message; there seems to be even an added brusqueness in the answer he returns declaring that Zedekiah should be delivered into the hands of the king of Babylon. The prophet may be imprisoned, his books may be burned, but his message still holds good; "the word of the Lord abideth forever."

The last act of the drama has opened. This pusillanimous king, who whimperingly begs Jeremiah to pray for him, is the last of David's royal line to sit upon the throne. The stiff-necked nation must now learn in bitterness of exile the lesson which it would not hear from its prophets—the lesson which still our own prophets are speaking to this later day.

"Hold ye the faith—the faith our fathers sealed us;
Whoring not with visions—overwise and overstale.
Except ye pay the Lord
Single heart and single sword,
Of your children in their bondage shall He ask them trebble-tale!"

Mrs. B. Cusic, 785 Patterson St., Marion, Ohio, says: "I have known of the value of Doan's Kidney Pills for many years. I have never used this remedy myself but other persons in my home have taken it with gratifying results. A member of my family was an almost constant sufferer from kidney complaint and backache, and hearing that Doan's Kidney Pills were very effective in bringing relief from this trouble, a supply was procured from Schmidt & Co.'s Drug Store. No other remedy could have given better satisfaction. A few doses removed the trouble and I am glad to say that the cure has been permanent. I publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills in July, 1904, and at this time, I am still a strong advocate for them."

MATTERS APPEALED TO THE CIRCUIT COURT

Another Turn in the Litigation of C., D. & M. People.

The C., D. & M. Railway company, Friday afternoon, appealed to the circuit court the order of Common Pleas Judge Kinkead allowing the $372,000 claim of Newton J. Catrow, whose original suit threw the road into receivership. The company also appeals Judge Kinkead's finding that there is no action pending in the Marion county court. These appeals vacate those orders until the circuit court can hear the case.

The company at the same time appealed from Supervising Judge Goldsberry's decision permitting Judge Kinkead to hear the Catrow case, following the company's affidavit requesting that some other judge be assigned for the trial of the case. Several days ago the company also appealed from Judge Goldsberry's decision dismissing the affidavits of prejudice against Judge Kinkead, which were heard in April.—Columbus Citizen.

Ramsey Is Dismissed.

The case of Ford Ramsey, who was arrested at DeCliff by Constable S. Rush, of Big Island township last Saturday night, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, brought by Columbus Manley, was dismissed by Justice Charles E. Gompf Saturday. A trial was held, Friday afternoon. Ramsey was arrested in bed last Saturday midnight at his home at DeCliff.

J. F. BARLOW LOSES A VALUABLE COLT

Former Marion Man Figures Loss at $20,000.

The Lima News makes the following reference to a loss suffered by J. F. Barlow, a former resident of this city:

J. F. Barlow, proprietor of the Pabst cafe on west High street, sustained the loss of a valuable pacing colt Wednesday. The animal was a three-year-old, Clayson, by J. C. Simpson, and gave promise of being a sensation in the fall stakes in which he was entered. Mr. Barlow had the colt in training at Van Wert during the season, and had brought him to the Lima driving park a few days ago, to put on the finishing touches before starting at the Michigan state fair, Ohio state fair and Horse Journal stakes, to be raced at Greenville, Ohio, Fairmont and Wheeling, West Virginia.

The colt had stepped a full mile over a half mile track in 2:11¼; half in 1:04, and quarters in thirty seconds. While being given a workout at the local plant, and apparently in good condition, the colt dropped over suddenly. Investigation developed that death had been instantaneous. Mr. Barlow estimates that he is out at least $20,000 through the death of the colt.

PATRICK E. SULLIVAN DIES OF TUBERCULOSIS

Death Follows an Illness of About One Year.

Patrick Edward Sullivan, who was quite well known throughout the city, died at his room on north Main street, at midnight, Thursday, of tuberculosis, of which he had suffered during the last year.

Mr. Sullivan was born at Ridgebury Pennsylvania, March 6, 1871, and was a son of the late Thomas Sullivan, of this city. He was never married.

The deceased is survived by the following brothers and sisters.

Mrs. Oral Millisor, Mrs. James Nebergall and Mrs. Hugo Butler, of Columbus; Mrs. Mary Hogan, Mrs. John Knachel and Mrs. Edson Campbell, of this city; Timothy Sullivan, of Ashville, and James Sullivan, whose place of residence is unknown.

The Sullivan Funeral.

The remains of Patrick Sullivan were taken to the Enoch Knachel home on Herman street, Saturday. The funeral was held at St. Mary's Catholic church, Monday morning at 8 o'clock, followed by burial in St. Mary's cemetery.

THE WATER COMPANY IS GRANTED PERMISSION

Will Issue Stock To Extend Mains as Ordered.

The public utilities commission at Columbus, acting under its new authority, has granted the request of the Marion Water company to issue preferred stock in the sum of $6,820 for the purpose of extending the mains ordered by the city council. Without such permission the company could not issue stocks or bonds.

Aside from the extensions the company will soon make an extensive improvement in the way of a cement reservoir to hold 2,000,000 gallons. A large number of men and teams were put to work on the reservoir last Monday morning.

CIRCUIT COURT.

In the matter of William Miller against the State of Ohio, the plaintiff-in-error has asked leave to file a petition-in-error in the circuit court. Miller was fined for violation of the liquor laws in the mayor's court. The matter was carried to the court of common pleas, where the judgment of the lower court was affirmed. The plaintiff now seeks to have the judgment reversed.

THE VETERANS GATHER FOR ANNUAL REUNION

A Small Remnant of Those Who See Service.

THE PROGRAM OF DAY IS EXTREMELY BRIEF

Survivors of the Ninety-Sixth Regiment, O. V. I., Guests of the City. They Find Much Pleasure in Reminiscences and Greetings. Regiment with Fine Record.

Merely a remnant of that once great body of fighting machinery, known as the Ninety-Sixth Ohio Volunteer infantry met here in the forty-seventh annual reunion Wednesday.

The tottering, feeble and crippled remnant—some minus an arm or a leg, some minus an eye, all bent with age and many misshapen from shot and shell and disease—marched proudly with head erect, into the courthouse, Wednesday, and registered in the room of Cooper Post, No. 117, G. A. R.

There was no martial music as the veterans appeared in twos and threes, often arm in arm. As they entered the postroom they were warmly greeted by members of the post, many of whom did not belong to the regiment.

"I would not be here, today, if it were not for my desire to see the old boys again," said Sergeant R. F. Bartlett, of Mt. Gilead. "I am sick and not really able to be here, but I couldn't resist."

Tears welled in the grizzled sergeant's eyes as he talked.

"I want to talk with you a few minutes just as soon as you get time, comrade," feebly declared a palsied veteran to Sergeant Bartlett as he grasped his hand. "I want to talk about old times," he added almost breathless from his walk into the courthouse.

Just outside the post-room, over the entrance, was hung a large flag that waved in the breeze that blew through the open courthouse corridors. Aside from that no flags were to be seen, except two or three in the post-room.

The majority of the veterans arrived Wednesday. A number came several days ago.

Monday night, a white-haired man sat in front of a business house on east Center street.

"Comrade," said a tall veteran who approached him, "can you tell me which road I take to Wilmington?"

The tall veteran was directed to the union station. "Oh, yes, I know that; but I thought you might tell me. You see I came here to attend the reunion of the Ninety-Sixth."

Scenes in Courthouse.

That broke the ice and the visiting veteran was offered a chair and he sat down to fight over again some of the battles of the civil war.

In the courthouse corridors many bloody battle scenes were enacted—verbally. Many touching tales were told and ludicrous incidents of battle related.

Veterans from the counties of Marion, Union, Delaware, Knox, Morrow and Logan, in which the regiment was recruited, mingled together and alternately laughed and cried as they told of their experiences and recalled tender memories.

Two veterans met each other just as one of them emerged from the post-room. They actually embraced before shaking hands.

Some of the old soldiers were too feeble to attend the reunion alone and they were accompanied by their wives, daughters or sons.

One fine specimen of manhood was heard to say that his father couldn't attend and that he came for him. He was R. C. Cookston, of near Mt. Gilead.

Some of the Members.

The following men from Marion county and vicinity enlisted and went to battle with the Ninety-Sixth infantry:

Lieutenant-Colonel, A. H. Brown.

Business Session.

The business session was held in the court-room that afternoon. The veterans first assembled in the infirmary directors' room, but the room was found too crowded and Comrade James DeWolfe, of Detroit, suggested that the meeting be held upstairs.

Several of the veterans, in the absence of an elevator, were fairly carried to the court-room.

"I've got heart-trouble and the doctors have forbidden me from climbing stairs," said Comrade Bartlett, of Mt. Gilead.

"We'll carry you," shouted a comrade. And that is what was done.

It was 1:30 o'clock when the veterans assembled in the court-room. There was a sprinkling of women in the little audience.

George Butler, of Rush Center, Kansas, president, was in charge, with Robert F. Bartlett as permanent secretary, and W. G. Shute as assistant secretary.

Following a song, "A Thousand Years, My Own Columbia," by B. J. Aurand, of Mt. Gilead, and W. G. Shute, of this city, Mayor John G. Seiler was introduced and delivered a brief address of welcome. The response was made by President Butler.

Following the adoption of resolutions thanking the local post for its kindness to the visiting veterans, the annual meeting was brought to a close. The next reunion will be held at Bellefontaine, the third week in August, 1912.

The following resolutions of condolence were adopted:

"The comrades reported to the reunion having passed away since our last meeting and whose names we mention with bowed heads and saddened hearts are as above reported.

"These comrades have been discharged from the ranks of the living and mustered out into the great army of the majority encamped on the other side.

"Resolved, That we will miss their friendly faces at our annual reunions and that it will not be many years until we will join them in one grand reunion on the other side:

"Resolved, That we extend to the families and loved ones of our deceased comrades our profound sympathy and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the families of the deceased comrades and printed in the Marion newspapers.

Reunion Notes.

"Do you remember," etc. That was nearly the first thing the veteran said to the other veteran when they met Wednesday.

The Ninety-Sixth, from the time of entering the field to the close of the war, was continuously active and in hard service the most of the time.

Out of the 1,014 men who belonged to the regiment when it was organized at Camp Delaware, August 29, 1862, less than half that number remain.

The principal officers of the regiment had seen previous service. They were Colonel John W. Vance, of Mt. Vernon; Lieutenant-Colonel A. H. Brown, of Marion; Major Charles H. McElroy, of Delaware; Surgeon D. W. Henderson, of Marysville.

H. H. Irey, a member of E company, Ninety-Sixth O. V. I., was unable to attend the reunion, but at his own request one of the veterans took the register to his home where he attempted to sign his name. He was too weak from sickness and Comrade W. G. Shutes registered for him.

TRAFFIC DELAYED BY TWO WRECKS TUESDAY

The Pennsylvania Company Suffers Heavily.

SEVEN CARS DERAILED IN WRECK AT TOBIAS

A Wrecking Train Enroute to the Scene Goes into the Ditch at Sugar Grove—Another Wrecker Is Necessary To Clear the Tracks. Some Local Railway Notes.

Traffic on this division of the Pennsylvania railroad was badly tied up as a result of two wrecks, Tuesday night. One occurred at Tobias about 12:30 o'clock, and the other at Sugar Grove, near Delaware.

Seven cars, loaded with coal, in a northbound freight were derailed, together with the engine in the wreck at Tobias. The train was making good speed when a broken flange caused the cars to leave the tracks. All the cars were badly damaged.

Word was sent to Columbus for the wrecking crew, which immediately started for the scene. The wreck train reached Sugar Grove, where it left the tracks, presumably as the result of a top-heavy derrick. Four cars composing the train were derailed and considerable damage was done. A. B. Strauderman, of Columbus, a member of the wrecking crew was injured. Strauderman was thrown heavily and suffered injuries about the abdomen. His condition, however, is not serious, unless peritonitis develops. Many of the crew jumped when the cars left the track.

A second wrecker coming from Columbus cleared up the wreck at Tobias so that traffic was in part resumed. The wreck at Sugar Grove occurred about 2 o'clock.

The work at Tobias required considerable time, and after that work was finished the wrecker at Sugar Grove was replaced.

The passenger traffic was seriously inconvenienced by the wrecks. Some of the passengers from the south came to this city over the C., D. & M.

MARION TARLTON HAS ENCOUNTER WITH SNAKE

A Story That Finds Way into the Tiffin Papers.

Marion Tarlton reports an encounter with a huge blue racer Tuesday morning, in which the reptile was killed, after having made a savage attack upon him.

Mr. Tarlton, in company with his brother-in-law, John Pennington, was hunting ground hogs in a meadow, three miles east of Egbert's church, near Spicer creek. While going through a large meadow Tarlton saw what he supposed to be a stick about three feet long standing in the grass as though it had been stuck in the ground. He passed quite near the object, when it suddenly became an animate serpent. Almost before he was aware of the danger the snake threw itself about him and coiled itself about his legs near the hips. After a brief struggle it loosened its coils and dropped to the ground. However, it immediately renewed its attack, but before it could reach Mr. Tarlton, he put a charge of shot into its body from the gun which he was carrying.

When measured the snake was found to be six feet and four inches in length. At the largest place it was about as thick as a man's wrist.—Tiffin Advertiser.

Hanover, Germany, Aug. 16.—Major Henry Reed Rathbone, who was stabbed trying to save Abraham Lincoln from being assassinated by John Wilkes Booth, died in the asylum for criminal insane. He has been confined there ever since he killed his wife in a fit of insanity 14 years ago, when he was United States consul here.

THE CELEBRATION OF A QUIET HOME WEDDING

Miss Nancy Dennis and Mr. F. W. Thacker United.

REV. J. P. CURRIN IS OFFICIATING MINISTER

The Young People Are Married in Their Own Home—The Bride Is a Young Woman of Pleasing Personality—Groom a Leading Young Business Man of City.

Miss Nancy M. Dennis and Mr. Frederick W. Thacker were quietly married in their own cosy home on Girard avenue, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, by Rev. J. P. Currin, pastor of the First Baptist church. The ceremony was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Lee.

The home, which had been previously furnished by the groom, was beautifully decorated with ferns and golden glow, and promptly at the appointed hour the young people, unattended, took their places before a bank of golden glow in the sitting-room where a brief and impressive marriage service was read by the officiating minister. The bride looked lovely in a pretty gown of white embroidered swiss.

Among the many wedding gifts was a fine mahogany piano, a gift from the groom's parents.

The bride is a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. N. E. Dennis, of Swanton, and a sister of Mrs. F. C. Smith, of west Center street. Her father is a United Brethren minister. For the past two years, she has been employed as a bookkeeper at the New York store and during her residence in this city has gathered about her a wide circle of admiring friends.

Mr. Thacker is one of the proprietors of the New York store and is a highly-esteemed young man. He came to Marion three years ago from Columbus, at which place his parents reside. He is a graduate of the Notre Dame college at Notre Dame, Michigan, a member of the Tally Wag club and of the local Masonic and Elk bodies.

Day Is Passed in Out-Door Pleasures in Grove.

Prospect, O., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Two family reunions were held at Gast's grove here, Tuesday. Each was very largely attended.

W. L. Cox, of Prospect, president; Frank Maize, of Columbus, vice president; Miss Belle Weber, of Columbus, secretary; W. G. Maize, of Columbus, treasurer.

The reunion of the Corbin-Vestal families was also largely attended and the day was passed in a pleasant manner by the large gathering of relatives. Many came from Waldo, Marion, Columbus, Urbana and Richwood and other points. Officers were elected as follows:

A. L. Corbin, of Columbus, president; Clark Corbin, of Plain City, vice president; Miss Mercedes Corbin, of Columbus, secretary.

The next reunion will be held next year at Lincoln park, Marion, the second Thursday of August.

A CIRCULAR LETTER WARNING CARRIERS

Proposition To Contribute One Dollar Each to Fund.

A circular letter warning rural carriers to have nothing to do with a proposition to contribute one dollar each to a fund to be raised for the editor of R. F. D. News in recognition of his efforts in connection with the increase in salary recently allowed them, has been received at the Marion postoffice.

The plan by which it is sought to raise a fund for the editor will bring him $42,000 for his services in their behalf if the carries comply with the request for a one-dollar contribution. Under the terms of newly-enacted legislation, each of the 42,000 rural carriers in the country will receive a raise of $100 a year in his compensation, so that the average salary paid will be $1,000.

MISS LOUIE CLAYTON ENTERTAINS COMPANY

A Delightful Evening at Home in Country.

Miss Louise Clayton entertained the girls of F. M. Kirby & Company's store, at supper at her home fifteen miles southwest of Marion, Tuesday evening. The time was spent with music and out-door games. The hostess' parents, Mr. and Mrs R. W. Clayton were nicely remembered by their guests.

The young women were Misses Lena Sager, Myrtle Severn, Mary Griffin, Marie Burke, Mabel Rafferty, Elvesta Durkin, Mamie Chapman, Cora Butcher, Lelah Chapman, Mary Fetter and Mary Atkinson.

Those present aside from the clerks, were Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Smiley, Mr. and Mrs. Cloud, Messrs. Harley Severns, Ferrel Williamson and Charley Rockwell.

The way to handle large rugs is to have a pole heavier than a clothes-prop. Preferably the pole should be round, but will answer if the edges are rounded off to make it octagonal. Roll the rug on this, and it can then be lifted and carried easily.

AND WEAR TROUSERS INSTEAD OF SKIRTS

Every Department of Farm Is Made To Pay as It Is Run Entirely on Business Principles—No Men Are Hired, Women Doing All the Duties Required.

"Farming with me has ceased to be a novelty," said an English woman who passed through New York the other day after making an extended trip in the agricultural districts of the southern and western states.

"Born and reared in Ireland, I went on a visit to the Argentine soon after I reached my majority. It was not very long after reaching that country that circumstances so shaped themselves that I became the owner and manager of a small farm. Had not my health failed I would have been there today, for I not only made a success of my farm, but I enjoyed the life.

"It was because I enjoyed it so thoroughly that I went into it again soon after returning to England. Just as soon as I was able a woman friend and I leased the farm on which we are now located and began operations. My friend is the daughter of a man of title, though not of wealth. She found it necessary to work for her living and, being fond of country life, she was glad to join me as a farmer.

"After the large farms of the West and the South our little holding of less than forty acres seems quite insignificant, but by close shaving and hard work we have managed to make it pay, besides giving us both a delightful home. Our farm is in Sussex, one of the most beautiful regions in England.

"When we first took it there was one small house with a laundry attached. We have knocked them together in such a manner that the former laundry is now a most attractive living room, while the two, house and laundry combined, are said to be one of the most picturesque cottages in our parish.

"Though we call our business a dairy farm, we raise and sell not only milk and butter, but eggs, chickens, horses, sheep, cats, dogs, fancy rabbits and some hay. All the work on the place is done by my friend and me, with the assistance of one half-grown boy. When I say all I mean exactly that.

"We have not only repaired and made fences and replanted and trained the hedges, but we have done a lot of ditching. We plough, sow, cut, make and carry the hay, do all the milking, attend to the sheep and cultivate the garden, which not only supplies us with vegetables, but gives us some to sell.

"Every department of our farm is made to pay, as we work on strictly business principles. In the winter my partner and I rise at 5, and in the spring, summer and autumn half an hour earlier. We retire at 9 the whole year around. We do our own cooking, housework and laundering. In fact, we do all that is done.

"While in the fields and pastures we have found trousers more serviceable than skirts. Indeed I do not see how practical farming can be carried on successfully by a woman in skirts. That is one of the first changes to which a woman farmer has to accustom herself and once she does it she will find it hard to understand why so many women cling to garments that hamper their movements so much.

"All our indoor garments are made along conventional lines. Though a woman in the fields may look and feel more comfortable wearing trousers I doubt if people will ever wish to use them in the drawing room. The majority of us are too fond of making the most of our feminine charms to be willing to discard feminine dress entirely. We take great pride in the beauty of our little farmhouse and I am sure neither my friend nor I would be willing to detract from it by appearing indoors dressed in the masculine clothes we find best suited to our work in the fields.

"At present we have five horses and colts, all of them thoroughbred. Our sheep number twenty-nine, with the prospect of considerable increase during the year. This is a department that has paid from the very first. Our cows are all registered and at present we have seven. They are healthy, easily managed and never spoiled by being petted. We get the best prices for all the milk and butter.

"We have found Leghorns the best chickens for our purpose, as they not only give the greatest number of beautiful eggs but the young chickens mature early, which is a desirable quality where a farmer plans to raise broilers. Our kennel of dachshunds has paid well for all the trouble and expense of buying and keeping. All of the doge are registered and several have taken blue ribbons. Keeping dogs is one of the things which I believe the small farmer in America could carry on with profit.

"Our cats are all Persians, also registered, and many have brought us home ribbons and prizes from exhibitons. We have found both the Flemish giant and the Belgian hares a paying proposition. They are easily reared, very prolific and sell moderately well. Pigeons are the latest addition to our stock, and though they haven't yet paid for themselves they have given us a high rate of interest on the money invested in them.

"Women farmers are not such a rarity in Great Britain as with you. However, the women in America appear to be waking up to the opportunities of farming and within the next few years I shouldn't be at all surprised if many of them went into the business in earnest."—New York Sun.

They Want Dulucia Punished for Various Things.

Italians swarmed the office of Justice Charles E. Gompf, Tuesday night. They demanded that Rosa Dulucia be sent to the penitentiary. Claims amounting to over $200 were presented the justice for collection. The Italians asserted the money had been borrowed from them by Duluria, who was arrested at Mansfield and brought here to answer to a charge of removing a mortgaged bicycle outside the county.

C. E. Burris, the jeweler, claimed a gold watch which Dulucia had, and was paying for on the installment plan. Louisa Folosia claimed that besides borrowing $11 from him, Dllucia had stolen a revolver from him.

A brother of the prisoner is expected here from Lewis Center to settle the case.

MINT JULEP IN OTHER PLACES THAN KENTUCKY

But the Drink Is Almost a Stranger in New York.

CONCOCTION IS TRACED BACK TO YEAR 1600

Manager of Gotham Concern Famous for Its Vintages, Distillations and Cuisine Talks of Drinks Present and Past—How the Darkey Considers the Mint Julep.

The manager of a New York concern, famous for its vintages, distillations and cuisine talked of drinks present and past. "Except in his home or at the club the New Yorker who drinks has no time to wait for a mixture and no time to swallow it," he said. "This does not apply to cocktails, of course, but decoctions such as cobblers, sangarees and pousse cafes are seldom called for here. Is that why the mint julep is a stranger in New York? Not altogether.

"It does not take time to make that most delicious of drinks, but the principal reason why the mint julep is not often asked for is that only connoisseurs appreciate it, and they knows that it all depends on the mint and that it is next to an impossibility to get the sort of mint here that we ought to have to make mint julep. A bon vivant knows that real mint has a pedigree.

"I have traced it as far back as 1600. It was in a high state of cultivation at that time in England. It was called English sparrow mint. It was not used so much for juleps, as I learn, as for garnishing a leg of mutton roast.

"I used to cater in Baltimore. It was while I lived here that I found out all about mint. One of the old families of that city came over with Lord Baltimore. The family name was Gartrell. As an old Baltimore lawyer once said, the Gartrells had more halo and creat than any family of that time.

"They were mint raisers in England. The family that embarked with Lord Baltimore, brought over a bunch of mint root and planted it near a spring on the land upon which they settled. It sprang up and increased and made the city of Baltimore famous.

"A long time afterward one of the Gartrells went to Missouri and bought a farm near Kansas City. He took some mint roots with him and planted them. They flourished, and so famous did that mint become that the producer did nothing but raise mint, which he sold to the big hotels in St. Louis, which were always noted for their fine drinks.

"I know that Colonel Watterson will tell you that the only mint grows in Kentucky and that only in Louisville is it made into a julep that would raise a mortal to the skies. I am not putting up any brag against Colonel Watterson, but what I have told you about mint is on the level. Some of the growth may have been transplanted to Kentucky, but it came from England, and in this country it got its sendoff in Baltimore. Missouri has done a good deal to keep it green and pungent.

"There is mint raised in all countries where the climate is suitable, but there is just the same difference between common mint and the English sparrow mint that there is between Parian marble and yellow clay.

"New York could raise just as good mint as is required, but it doesn't, and one reason for it is that people who drink haven't time for a barkeeper to make mint julep as it should be made. It's a pity, too, for properly concocted and taken judiciously there is no drink that beats it, especially in summer.

"One thing to remember is that the mint must never be bruised. It has to be mint such as I have described. Mint is the most delicate plant in the world. When you combine it with pure Jamaica rum you get a perfume that is delicate enough for the lace of the daintiest woman on earth.

"Of course you know all about putting a chunk of ice in the glass. Sprigs of the mint must be put in first as a layer. Then let the leaves peep over the rim of the glass. A spoonful of sugar drops over the ice. Then comes your rum. After that the whisky, some distilled water, a squeeze of lemon juice over all. Then stir, using a silver spoon—almost necessary—and mind you don't bruise the mint. Then sip and you will understand what the old darkey meant when he said that his only objection to a mint julep was that it 'took so powe'ful long to git ter what it's gwine.'

"Sorry I can't make you one. There is no mint."—New York Sun.

FREDERICK GILBERT LODGED IN JAIL

Must Answer to a Very Serious Charge.

Frederick Gilbert, thirty-one years old, a farmer, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Cornelius Breen at his home in Grand Prairie township, Wednesday night, charged with attempting to criminally assault twelve-year-old Hazel Clark, who was taken to raise by Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Lauer, Gilbert's neighbors.

Gilbert's alleged crime is said to have been committed, Saturday, August 12, according to the affidavit filed in the court of Justice Charles E. Gompf by Mr. Lauer. When placed in jail, Wednesday night, Gilbert stoutly denied the charge. He admitted being with the girl, but emphatically said he had done nothing of which he was ashamed.

Last Saturday afternoon, Mr Lauer claims that when Gilbert's wife came to town she asked her husband to accompany her. He declined, and later induced the little girl to go to his home, where he removed a part of her clothing.

Gilbert's wife is the daughter of Mrs. Lauer, wife of the man who filed the affidavit. Mrs. Lauer was formerly the wife of John Baker, a well-known Grand Prairie township farmer, now deceased.

Gilbert was arraigned before Justice Gompf, Thursday, at 10 o'clock. We waived the preliminary examination, and was held to the grand jury in the sum of $1,000. He went to jail in default of bond.

Released from Jail.

Frederick Gilbert, who was held to the grand jury on a charge of attempted assault on twelve-year-old Hazel Clark, was released from the county jail, Thursday afternoon, on furnishing $1,000 bond.

GLUCOSE IS SOLD AS CORN SYRUP

Wiley Brings Out the Facts at His Hearing.

Washington, Aug. 17.—That three members of the cabinet took the side of the Corn Products company against a decision of the board of food and drug inspection and allowed that company to sell glucose labeled as corn syrup, was the startling charge made on the witness stand, today, by Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, of the bureau of chemistry. The Corn Products company employed thirty chemists to refute Wiley's opinion, one of them afterward serving on the Remsen board. The company, according to Dr. Wiley, then succeeded in having the board's order suppressed and replaced it with one authorizing the sale of glucose in the form desired by them.

Wiley said that after the inspection board first voted against the Corn Products company he wrote the president of the company of that decision.

"I have reason to believe," Wiley said, "that the Corn Products company got very busy after receiving my letter."

Wiley asserted that he had information that the company tried to get chemists all over the country to write certificates that the decision against them was wrong, and he declared he knew of one instance where they offered money to one chemist for such a certificate.

BALTIMORE & OHIO MEN MAY STRIKE

Unions Are Holding a Conference on the Matter.

Cincinnati, Aug. 17.—"If A. P. Prendergast, superintendent of motive power of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern railroad does not meet our demands today, I believe that approximately 3,000 mechanical department employes of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern railroads will vote to go on a strike at once," said Charles Herr, chairman of a committee of the machinists' union, of the Washington, Indiana, Baltimore & Ohio shops today.

Committees of the Washington, Indiana; Chillicothe, Ohio, and Cincinnati machinists' unions are holding a conference with Prendergast today, to demand that E. A. Hunt, a union mechanist, be reinstated at Washington. They claim that the charge that Hunt repaired a piston rod defectively was only a subterfuge to discharge him because of his activities during the recent Baltimore & Ohio machinists' strike which lasted seventeen months.

A DIVORCE PROCEEDING SEQUEL TO ELOPEMENT

Henry Elias Sabback, a Greek, Wants Divorce.

DESERTION CHARGED BY THE PLAINTIFF

Sabback Asks for a Divorce and the Custody of Child—Answers in Two Divorce Proceedings Are Filed in the Court of Common Pleas—Some Court Notes.

In September, 1907, Miss Agnes Weeks, of Centerville, eloped to Covington, Kentucky, with Henry Elias Sabback, a Greek. Following their marriage they returned to this city and sought forgiveness. Thursday in the court of common pleas, the husband, through Attorneys Mouser & Moloney, brought an action for a divorce.

In his petition, Sabback avers that his wife used profane language and threatened to kill herself and their child, George Elias Sabback, aged two years.

October 17, 1910, the plaintiff alleges his wife sold the household furniture that he had purchased and went to the home of her grandparents at Centerville, taking with her their child. He says he tried in every way to get her to stay at home and not neglect her household duties, but that the kindness and consideration he showed her proved unavailing. He says he has supported the child ever since it was taken to the grandparents. He asks for a divorce and the custody of the babe.

Sabback was naturalized a few months ago.

An answer, setting up a general denial and averring that the action would never have been brought had it not been "for the interference of others," was filed by the defendant in the divorce suit of Mamie Foos against Emerson G. Foos, in the common pleas court, Thursday, through Attorneys Mouser & Moloney.

In the divorce suit of Agnes J. Maloney against Andrew Maloney, the defendant, through Attorney Louis E. Myers, has filed an answer setting up a general denial.

SHOTS FROM REVOLVER AROUSE NEIGHBORHOOD

Police Search for a Man Believed Demented.

HARVEY HARRIOT IS TAKEN TO WORKHOUSE

Mrs. Arthur Spratt Complains to the Police That Her Husband Abuses Her—She Wants Him Prosecuted and He Is Arrested—Local Police Court News Notes.

Residets in the vicinity of the Marion Lumber company reported to the police, Wednesday night, that a man, believed to be demented, was strolling in that vicinity. The man fired two shots from a revolver and frightened two girls. Captain Bond responded and made a search for the fellow, but no trace of him could be found.

Officer Cuslek took Harvey Harriot to the Dayton workhouse, Wednesday. Harriot was fined five dollars and costs by the mayor on a charge of intoxication and, being unable to raise the amount, will have to work it out.

About 10 o'clock Wednesday night Lena Spratt called at police headquarters and informed the mayor that her husband, Arthur Spratt, had come to their home on Jefferson street and had begun breaking up housekeeping. Spratt and his wife have had much trouble and have aired many of their grievances before the mayor, but have always joined hands afterwards. Wednesday night, the woman informed the mayor that she would not stand for the annoyance any longer, and that she wanted her husband prosecuted. According to her story, he brought a friend home for supper. Later in the evening, he became abusive, striking her mother and another relative, and dragging her around by the hair. He also knocked a lamp off the table and threatened to burn the house. Officers Shrock and McColly were sent to the house, but Spratt had left. They later arrested him at the Star restaurant on north Main street. Spratt's wife promised to appear and file a charge against him

A man named Brady, who resides near Owens, reported to the police, Wednesday night, that two fellows had stolen a quantity of apples at his place. Brady caught the fellows in the act and fired at them with a shotgun. He then secured his rig and followed them toward Marion. At a point near the shoe factory he lost trace of the men. He then reported the theft to the police. He informed the officers that the fellows drove a bay pony hitched to a top buggy with red running gears.

Albert Mercer, who was arrested on a charge of conducting a theatrical and dramatic performance, last Sunday, was given a hearing in the mayor's court Thursday. Mercer was represented by Attorney W. P. Moloney, the prosecution being conducted by City Solicitor E. T. Boyd and Attorney John H. Clark. Five witnesses, including two of the witnesses for the defendant, were called by the prosecution and no witnesses were put on the stand by the defendant's attorney. At the close of the evidence, Attorney Moloney filed a motion to dismiss the case for lack of evidence. In the argument of the attorneys on the motion, the question arose as to what constituted a dramatic or theatrical performance. The mayor reserved his decision on the motion until a later date.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE FARMERS' PICNIC

Big Gathering in Dayton Blow Grove August 23.

Final arrangements have been completed for the big farmers' picnic to be held at Dayton Blow grove, four and one-half miles north of La Rue, Wednesday, August 23.

The picnic is the fourth affair of the kind given by the Marion County Farmer's Picnic association.

The grove, where the outing will be held, is a typical place for holding an all-day picnic. Plenty of pure water, an abundance of shade and a splendid lawn beneath the overhanging trees of a well-kept forest tract, makes the spot a most inviting one.

Farmers from Marion, Hardin, Union and other counties will attend.

Attorney General Timothy Hogan, Judge Robert Carey, of Upper Sandusky, and Rev. M. D. Scott, of La Rue, are on the program for speeches.

Baker's band of this city will regale the picnic crowd with music throughout the entire day. The Marion Male quartet and the Happy Four quartet, of Marion, will render numerous selections. An excellent program of recitations and other exercises under the direction of Rev. C. W. Needles will be rendered.

QUICK WORK SAVES THE DAWSON BARN

Bucket Brigade Effective in Fire Fighting.

The early discovery of fire and quick work in carrying water, saved the barn of Perry Dawson, on Blaine avenue, about 4:30 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Dawson was sitting on the porch of her home when one of the neighbors informed her that she believed the barn was on fire. Mrs. Dawson rushed to the barn and found a mass of flames in one of the stalls.

Assistance was summoned from the Smith mattress factory and a water brigade was soon at work. An alarm was sent in to the fire laddies, but by the time they reached the scene the blaze had been extinguished. It is believed that some children, who had been playing about the barn, accidentally started the fire by lighting matches. Practically no damage was done.

Man Is Charged with Embezzling Sum of $19.70.

John M. Smith, charged by the Ohls Decorating company with embezzling $19.70, following a preliminary hearing, Thursday morning, was held to the grand jury by Justice Conley. His bond was fixed at $50, which amount he furnished.

The evidence against Smith was not regarded as very strong by the justice and he fixed his bond accordingly. The testimony went to show that Smith drew money from the Ohls Decorating company, and then went to Michael J. Burke, with whom he contracted to do some paperhanging and drew the money for it after he had turned the job over to the Ohls people.

Attorneys DeGolley & DeGolley represented Smith.

Tuesday, August 22—East Window.

The Principle of Air Cleaning is a great discovery. It is the only way of making the home sanitary as well as thoroughly clean.

After using one in our cloak room for two years and having the cleaner thoroughly tested by many of the best housekeepers in Marion, we are convinced that it is the best cleaner in the market, and will do the work year after year, never failing to meet the demands made upon it by housewives who insist upon having carpets, rugs, draperies, mattresses, bedding, etc., thoroughly cleaned.

THE HOOVER ELECTRIC SUCTION SWEEPER combines a revolving soft bristle brush, with suction. Its strong suction first lifts the floor covering one-fourth inch from the floor, then Airs, Sweeps, Shakes and Suction Cleans it all in one easy, automatic operation.

Another special cabinet meeting was called by Premier Asquith, today, at which it is believed the ministry determined that the moving of food supplies to Liverpool should be resumed at all costs. The action of the war office in massing 25,000 troop sat Aldershot and that of the admiralty in dispatching warships to Liverpool harbor were endorsed. Following the cabinet meeting the premier conferred with the railway managers who persisted in refusing to treat directly with the unions.

A special meeting of the federation officials is now in session, considering the advisability of ordering a renewal of the dock workers' strike here in sympathy with the industrial movement at Liverpool and elsewhere.

BURNS BLACK TO AVENGE SLAYING

Coatsville Mob Drags Victim from Hospital.

PENNSYLVANIA POLICE PUT UP A WEAK FIGHT

Offer but Little Resistance to the Avengers.

Negro Kills White Officer—Fiends in Human Form Pile Straw Over Cot Upon Which Victim Is Strapped and Match Is Applied—Speechless from Self-Inflicted Wound. Negro Writhes Until Death Comes.

Coatesville, Pa., Aug. 14.—Battering down the doors of the Coatesville hospital, a mob of 400 men dragged out Ezekiel Walker, the negro charged with the murder of Special Policeman Rice, carried him half a mile, manacled to his cot, and burned him alive. The lynching was accomplished only after the negro, mad from pain, had leaped from the blazing pyre built over him and tried to escape, dragging the bed, to which he was bound by his handcuffs. A crowd of 2,000 watched the mob leaders beat the man with fence rails and force him, shrieking, back into the flames. Three times he bounded up and three times was thrust back, until finally the quivering body fell into the fire.

Only then was the mob satisfied. The masked men walked back to the town and a half hour later they had dispersed as rapidly as they had gathered.

A crowd of 400 men with handkerchiefs over their eyes gathered in front of the hospital. There was no revealing of identities. The men called their leaders "marshal" and each other they addressed as "brother."

Walker was in shackles and bound to a cot in the men's department on the first floor. Policeman Howe had been stationed to guard him. Attendants at the hospital saw the mob gathering and ran to the telephone. There was no response over the wire. The men evidently had cut all wires leading into the building.

Mob Mutters on Lawn.

The mob stood muttering on the lawn and in the street in front of the hospital. An ambulance came up the driveway. In an instant the leaders had surrounded it and climbed on the driver's seat. They thought the negro was being hurried away. The patient in the ambulance was not Walker. Lying fastened to his cot in the hospital, he was crying and trembling from head to foot, as each frenzied yell came from the outside.

Assured that the man they were after was still in the hospital, the mob advanced toward the door. For an instant there was a falling back. Some of the leaders stopped midway up the lawn and a few went on alone. A man in white mask, whom the other men had been addressing as "marshal," walked up the steps. He turned and faced the crowd on the lawn. "Men," he shouted, "are you going to allow a white man to be downed by a nigger?"

Those in the rear of the mob surged forward. The others were pushed up toward the hospital steps, and with a wild yell the men stormed the hospital door. They hammered glass out of the windows with their fists. In the corridor of the hospital Policeman Howe met them with a drawn revolver. He fired two shots, but the mob did not notice it. They brushed the policeman aside and pushed away the hospital attendants, who tried to interfere.

Walker lay helpless on his bed in the right wing of the hospital. Into the ward the leaders rushed, other patients fainting and screaming from fright. Someone produced a rope. They tied this around the shackled negro, fastening him to the cot, winding the rope about his feet and underneath the bed. Then a score of men laid hold of the rope and ran down the corridor. Out of the hospital they dragged the bed and the negro with it.

Could Make No Outcry.

Walker couldn't make an outcry. His self inflicted bullet wound in the mouth had made this impossible. His eyes glared in his terror. The negro's bed turned and rolled, the manacles and ropes digging into his flesh.

The crowd outside the hospital gave a cheer when their leaders came out. Out over the lawn they ran to the street. Chief of Police Olmsted tried to rush through the crowd to aid Policeman Howe, but he was shoved back into the street.

Outside the hospital grounds, the men with the rope started down the road on a dead run. The cot bumped over the roadway and rolled from side to side. The howling mob, now increased to 1,000 persons or more, followed. A half mile to the south, the men with the rope stopped, just opposite the place where Edgar Rice, the policeman, was shot the night before.

The men began to scatter in all directions and bring fence rails to where the negro lay bound. Brawny arms pitched the negro and his cot over a fence into a field on the farm of John Newman. Others ran here and there and brought back armloads of hay and straw which they had picked up from the fields.

Pile Hay Over Cot.

They piled the hay about and over the cot and Walker. Someone touched a match to the mattress and soon the cot was ablaze. Others piled fence rails over the negro. Walker writhed and struggled against the shackles which bound him to the bed. Suddenly he gave a leap out of the blazing hay. Before the men about the fire realized it, Walker had leaped over the fence with the bed roped to his back.

The crowd gave a yell. Men with fence rails shoved the bed and the negro back into the blazing hay.

Three times did the negro try to escape in his manner. Each time the men with the fence rails shoved him back into the fire. The third time the flesh was hanging from the negro's bones.

Walker was caught in the woods and was tired by the posse. Seeing that he was surrounded, Walker pulled a gun and shot himself through the mouth. He fell to the ground and was carried a mile to an automobile. When he reached the police station he begged the officers to kill him.

Negro Shot and Burned.

Durant, Okla., Aug. 14.—A mob of 500 whites captured and shot to death an unidentified negro who attacked and shot Mrs. Redden Campbell, near here, and afterward burned the negro's body.

YOUNG WOMAN SWIMS TWENTY-ONE MILES

A Massachusetts Girl Does Wonderful Stunt Sunday.

New York, Aug. 14.—Rose Pitonof, a sixteen-year-old aspirant for aquatic glory, from Dorchester, Massachusetts, swam Sunday from the pier at East Twenty-sixth street, Manhattan, to the steeplechase pier at Coney Island, a distance of twenty-one miles, in eight hours and seven minutes.

There was no prize offered for the feat, but it is rumored that Miss Pitonof had vaudeville engagements in sight when she attempted it. She tried the same thing last year, but got only as far as Norton's Point, where the tide washed her ashore.

The girl went off the pier at east Twenty-sixth street at 9:20, yesterday morning, attended by her brother, Adolph, and her coach, Commodore William J. Curan, of the Bath Beach division of the United States Volunteer Life-Saving corps, who were in a boat. At Thirty-ninth street Alois Anderie, the European long-distance swimming champion, who swam from Charlestown to Boston Light in 1908, before Miss Pitonof did it, entered the water to pace the swimmer and did not leave her until Norton's Point was reached.

In a direct route the steeplechase pier is about eighteen miles, but Miss Pitonof went about twenty-one miles, her coach said, since she crossed over to the western shore, near Ft. Wodsworth, to take advantage of the tide.

Miss Pitonof started against the tide, but at the Brooklyn bridge she was swimming with it. She passed under the Williamsburg bridge at 11:10, the Manhattan bridge at 12:03 and the Brooklyn bridge at 12:10. Off Ninth street, and again off Fifth, the tide threw her over to the New York side of the river, and she had to swim under the piers. She used the breast stroke practically all the way, except for a few minutes off Norton's Point, when she changed to the over-arm stroke. Though last year she was washed ashore at Norton's Point, she had no trouble, yesterday.

MANY LOSE LIVES IN GREAT TYPHOON

Great Damage Caused by Tidal Wave in Japan.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 14.—More than 500 lives were lost and great devastation ashore and afloat resulted from a typhoon and tiday wave, which swept over Japan, July 26, according to advices brought here Sunday by the Empress of Japan. The fishing fleets from Shidzuoka suffered severely. More than 200 fishermen were drowned.

At Tokyo a tidal wave swept away many houses, including a large tea house, with thirty-three persons. The noted Shenigawa island work factory collapsed and fifteen employes were killed, those who escaped swimming to roofs of neighboring houses after crawling from the debris. A torpedo boat was swept inshore at Tokyo and several steamers foundered, while big liners dragged anchors.

Eight of forty men on the Aoamori Maru survived when she went down in the typhoon off Kuno, and 100 fishermen were drowned off there. The Japanese naval training squadron was crossing off Tosa and two seamen were killed on the Hashidate and seven injured.

NEGRO IS KILLED AND BODY BURNED

Oklahoma Whites Shoot to Death the Assailant of Woman.

Durant, Okla., Aug. 14.—A mob of 500 whites, Sunday, captured and and afterward burned the negro's who Saturday, attacked and shot Mrs Redden Campbell near here, and afterward burned the negroe's body.

The negro was killed after a running fight lasting more than an hour in which he exhausted his ammunition in returning the fire of his pursuers. When he fell, volley after volley of bullets was poured into his body by the advancing mob.

The body was then taken to the home of his victim. Nearly dead from her injuries. Mrs Campbell identified it as that of her assailant.

Two Bodies Recovered.

The bodies of Baggageman Valentine Snyder and Engineer W. A. Arick, of the freight train into which the flyer crashed have been recovered. Ira Burger, engineer and George O. Wilson, fireman on the flyer, are believed to be buried in the wreckage.

Most of the passengers injured were riding in the smoker and buffet car when the flyer left the track at a switch and crashed into a freight train on the siding. Many are seriously injured, but have a chance of recovery. Mrs. Samuel McRoberts, of New York, a niece of J. P. Morgan, was riding in the third car from the engine, but escaped injury. The train was made up of the new heavy steel cars which withstood the crash and prevented a heavy loss of life.

The baggage car, smoker, buffet and two sleepers turned over in the ditch.

The injured are now in the hospitals and hotels and it is believed that at least four or five will die.

The body of Fred Zimmerman who died in Milwaukee and which was being brought here for burial was recovered from the baggage. One of the cars caught fire and was burning by the time the fire department arrived.

Passengers in the seven rear cars escaped with only cuts and bruises, whereas, it is declared by railroad men, if the cars had been of the old-fashioned wood construction, the carnage would have been frightful.

Clearing Away Wreck.

It will take a day or more for the wreck trains to clear away the wreck, as the cars are extremely heavy. The wrecking crew from Ft. Wayne arrived within a half hour after the wreck occurred and wrecking trains from Crestline and Chicago came in later.

Evidence seems to point to the flyer's going at an extreme speed over a temporary switch as being the chief cause of the accident. From Valparaiso to Winona Lake the engine which brought the train out of Chicago was going badly, so the engine which was to take the train from Ft. Wayne to Crestline was sent to Winona Lake to meet the flyer.

The two engines were then coupled together and the double-header brought the train toward Ft. Wayne at seventy to eighty miles an hour. Just east of the western city limits a switch was constructed to swing trains from the regular track to another track. This change in routing was made necessary by track elevation work.

Robert Russell, of Toronto, Ontario, and Fred Beckwith, of New York City, passengers on the flyer, were imprisoned in the vestibule between the diner and coach immediately to the rear when the crash came and were unable to escape from their narrow prison. Their cries attracted the rescuers, who, under the direction of Police Sergeant Dan Kintz, began cutting away the roof of the car to reach them. Encouraged by the cries of the men inside the car the rescuers finally cut away a sufficient section of roof to drag the men out. Russel was hurt about the back, while Beckwith escaped uninjured.

Peculiar Coincidence.

By a peculiar coincidence, this same train was wrecked a week ago last night near Hammond, Indiana, although no one was killed. A fireman was injured and the passengers were severely jolted. Last night's wreck marked the fourth incident that has occurred since the Pennsylvania's eighteen-hour train was placed in service in June, 1905.

The first smashup occurred at Mineral Point, Pennsylvania, February 23, 1907, when the westbound train was derailed. Most of the passengers were injured, but none was killed.

The second accident occurred near Hamilton, Pennsylvania, where the train ran into a landslide. This happened February 15, 1909. No one was injured.

William S. Monroe, of Chicago, was riding on the observation platform of the last car and escaped injury. He said the train was running so fast that the telegraph poles could not be seen.

RESOLUTION IS VETOED BY TAFT

He Objects to Recall in Statehood Measures.

DECLARES PROPOSED SYSTEM DESTRUCTIVE

President Clearly Defines His Views on Subject.

Taft Declares That, as It Is Claimed Recall Will Be Rarely Used, It Will Be Rarely Needed and System Is Full of Danger. Therefore, It Should Not Be Adopted—President's Message.

Washington, Aug. 15.—President Taft, this afternoon, sent to congress his message vetoing the resolution admitting Arizona and New Mexico to statehood, basing his objection on the provision in the Arizona constitution making the judiciary subject to the recall.

The president vigorously denounced this proposed system as pernicious and destructive of free government.

The message, in part, follows:

I return herewith, without my approval, the house joint resolution to admit the territories of New Mexico and Arizona as states.

If I sign this resolution, I do not see how I can escape responsibility for the judicial recall of the Arizona constitution. This provision of the Arizona consutution, in its application to county and state judges, seems to me so pernicious in its effect, so destructive of independence in the judiciary, so likely to subject the rights of the individual to the possible tyranny of a popular majority, and, therefore, to be so injurious to the cause of free government, that I must disapprove a constitution containing it.

"Now, as the government is for all the people, and not solely for a majority of them, the majority, in exercising control, either directly or through its agents, is bound to exercise the power for the benefit of the minority as well as the majority. But all have recognized that the majority of a people, unrestrained by law, when aroused and without the sobering effect of deliberation and discussion, may do injustice to the minority or to the individual when the selfish interest of the majority prompts. Hence, arises the necessity for a constitution by which the will of the majority shall be permitted to guide the course of the government only under controlling checks that experience has shown to be necessary to secure for the minority its share of the benefit to the whole people that a popular government is established to bestow.

Servants of People.

"The executive and legislative branches of our government are representative of the majority of the people which elected them in guiding the course of the government within the limits of the constitution. But the judicial branch of the government is not representative of the majority of the people in any such sense, even if the mode of selecting judges is by popular election. In a proper sense, judges are servants of the people. But they are not popular representatives. On the contrary, to fill their office properly, they must decide every question which comes before them according to law and justice.

"In early days, some argued that whatever was done by the legislature was constitutional. But it was soon settled that it was the duty of judges to apply the law and so to declare what was the law, and if what purported to be statutory law was at variance with the fundamental law— i e, the constitution—the seeming statute was not law at all, was not binding on the courts, the individuals or any branch of the government and that it was the duty of the judges so to decide.

"This power conferred on the judiciary in our form of government is unique in the history of governments and its operation has attracted and deserved the admiration and commendation of the world. It gives to our judiciary a position higher, stronger and more responsible than that of the judiciary of any other country and more effectively secures adherence to the fundamental will of the people.

Jurists With Courage.

"Judges to fulfil their functions properly in our popular government must be more independent than in any other form of government, and that need of independence is greatest where the individual is one litigant, and the state, guided by the successful and governing majority, is the other. In order to preserve the rights of the minority and the individual, and to preserve our constitutional balance, we must have judges with courage to decide against the majority when law and justice require

"Could there be a system more ingeniously devised to subject judges to momentary gusts of popular passion than this Arizona system? Controversies over elections, labor troubles, racial or religious wars, criminal trials or popular or unpopular defendants, the removal of court's seats, suits by individuals to maintain their constitutional rights in obstruction of some popular improvement—these and many other cases could be cited in which a majority of a district electorate would be tempted by hasty anger to recall a conscentious judge if opportunity were open all the time. No period of delay is interposed for the abatement of popular feeling. The recall is devised to encourage quick action and to lead the people to strike while the iron is hot.

"Supporters of such a system seem to think that it would work only in the interest of the poor, the humble, the weak and the oppressed; that it will strike down only the judge who is supposed to favor corporations and be affected by the corrupting influence of the rich. Nothing could be further from the ultimate result. The motive it would offer to unscrupulous combinations to seek to control politics in order to control the judges is clear. Those would profit by the recall who have the best opportunity of rousing the majority of the people to action on a sudden impulse. Do they not include those who have money enough to employ fire brands and slanderers in a community and the stirrers-up of social hate?

Danger in Recall.

"Would not self-respecting men well hesitate to accept judicial office with such a sword of Damocles hanging over them? What kind of judgments might those on the unpopular side expect from courts whose judges must make their decisions under such legalized terrorism? The charter of the judges would deteriorate to that of trimmers and time-servers, and independent judicial action would be a thing of the past.

"As the possibilities of such a system pass in review, is it too much to characterize it as one which will destroy the judiciary, its standing, its usefulness"

"It is said the recall will be rarely used. If so, it will be rarely needed. Then, why adopt a system so full of danger? But it is a mistake to suppose that such a powerful lever for influencing judicial decisions and such an opportunity for vengeance because of adverse ones. will be allowed to remain unused.

"But it is said that the people of Arizona are to become an independent state when created, and even if we strike out judicial recall now, they can reincorporate it in their constitution after statehood.

"To this I would answer that in dealing with the courts, which are the cornerstone of good government, and in which not only the voters, but the non-voters and non-residents have a deep interest, as a security from their rights of life, liberty and property, no matter what the future action of a state may be, it is necessary for the authority which is primarily responsible for its creation to assert in no doubtful tones the necessity for an independent and untrammeled judiciary."

DON'T ROCK BABY, IS LATEST EDICT

Chicago Health Officials Say It Means Nervous Diseases.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—Do not rock your baby.

This is the latest edict issued by the Chicago health department, and it is to be communicated to mothers by the visiting nurses of the department.

The so-called "self-rocking" cradle is particularly under the ban. This cradle, which is a mechanical apparatus that runs by springs and is wound up like a clock, is said to be a cause of nervous diseases in young children, and, in the opinion of the city's experts, is to be avoided as highly dangerous.

One official of the health department spoke of the clock work cradles as "the devil's own" contrivance.

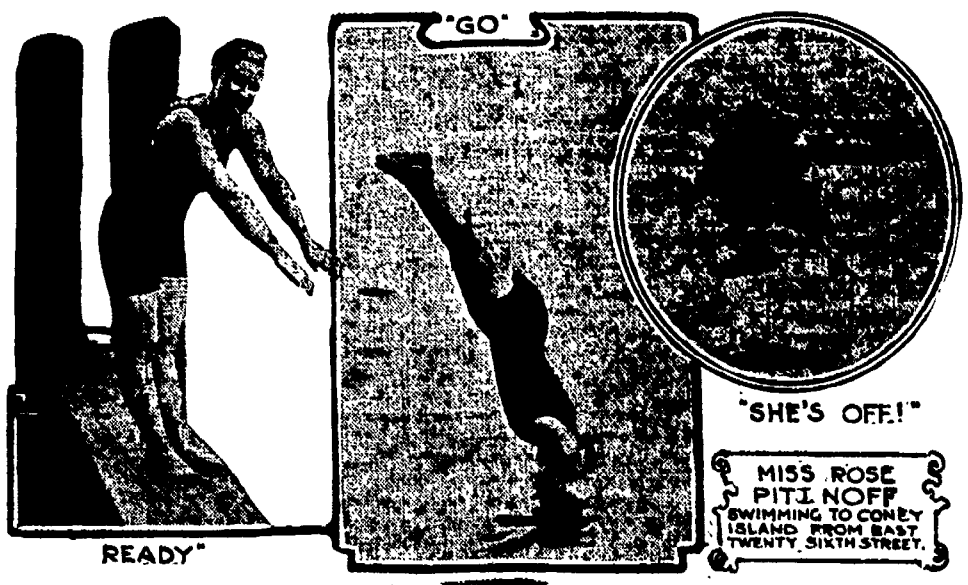
SEVENTEEN-YEAR-OLD BOSTON SCHOOLGIRL IN REMARKABLE SWIM



One of the most remarkable feats in swimming was accomplished on August 13, when Miss Rose Pitonof, a seventeen-year-old schoolgirl from Boston, Mass., swam from a New York pier to Steeplechase pier, at Coney Island, a distance of twenty-five miles, in eight hours and seven minutes. Her wonderful endurance, the sheer audacity of her youth and the ease with which she overcame the scour of the tide amazed veteran swimmers who witnessed her performance.

FINANCIERS SEEK HARRIMAN LINES

Magnate's Widow May Lose Control of Roads.

WALL STREET GETS THE INFORMATION

It Is Believed Mrs. Harriman Will Not Fight.

Widow May Permit Property To Pass on, Simply Disposing of Her Holdings in the Open Market at as Advantageous Price as Possible. She May Leave Roads for New Bank.

New York, Aug. 16.—Mrs. E. H. Harriman, widow of the railroad magnate, is today facing a general fight to break her control of the vast railroad properties acquired by her late husband. The combination of financiers who fought Harriman until his death, after suspending activity, are now in the market to get control of the big transcontinental system known to fame as the Harriman lines.

And Wall street today believes Mrs. Harriman will not fight them, but will permit the property to pass on, simply disposing of her holdings in the open market as advantageous a price as possible.

This belief gained currency following a special dispatch from San Francisco which quoted friends of Mrs. Harriman as saying that she was selling her railway stocks. Much of the recent decline, including the sensational drop in Union Pacific, was due to the selling of Harriman stock, acoreding to this story. It was also said that Mrs, Harriman was no longer optimistic regarding the outlook for the arilroads of the West and that of the Middle West.

Widow Not Worried.

According to usually well-informed financial sources, however, it is not because Mrs. Harriman is worried over the financial situation that she is selling her railroad stocks. She simply does not feel able to withstand the strain of a fight on the exchanges to retain control of the properties her husband got together. Mrs. Harriman is wrapped up in the affairs of the Harriman National bank, established by her as a lasting memorial of her dead husband and rumor says the great bulk of her enormous wealth is to be put in shape to place behind that institution.

While Harriman lay dying at Arden he heard that an attempt was to be made to raid his properties, depress the price to a law figure, and take the roads away from him. He sent for J. P. Morgan and Morgan agreed to stand behind the Harriman interests. Consequently, there was hardly a ripple on the change when the announcement of Harriman's death was received.

The truce pact is now ended, Wall street believes, and the recent raids on the Harriman stocks and more especially Union Pacific, is said to be due to the renewal of the battle for control which involves a number of noted groups of international bankers

MAY SUE TO GET A SEAT IN CAR

New Rule To Seat Women and Children Meets Opposition.

New York, Aug. 16.—Officials of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company alleged today they were threatened with a law suit because the Brooklyn bridge police have adopted a rule giving women and children a chance to board the cars first and so get seats.

William Seibert, superintendent of the surface lines, said today he had been notified by a male patron that as his constitutional rights were being invaded he would appeal for an injunction preventing the police enforcing the new rule.

"This man told me he had been in the habit of getting a seat," said Seibert, "and that we have no right to discriminate. He said his nickel was as good as any woman's."

CROWD OF PILGRIMS JOURNEYS TO CAREY

Feast of Assumption Celebrated at Catholic Church There.

Upper Sandusky, O., Aug. 16.—The largest crowd of pilgrims in the history of Carey was attracted to Our Lady of Consolation shrine Tuesday in celebration of the feast of the assumption. Special trains from Cleveland, Toledo and Columbus brought several thousand pilgrims. A score of priests assisted Rev. Father John Mizer and mass was conducted from three altars in the old church.

Several cures were reported to Father Mizer during the day and among the pilgrims were many who have been cured at previous celebrations. .

VOLCANO KILLS THIRTY PEOPLE

Tourists Caught and Burned to Death.

MOLTEN LAVA POURS FROM MOUNTAIN TOP

Crater Suddenly Bursts into Violent Eruption.

Parties of Tourists Are Toiling Up Well-Traveled Slopes of Mt. Asamasyma When Volcano Bursts Fourth, Hurling Sizzling Lava Down Mountain Sides—One Party of Travelers Escapes Death.

Tokyo, Aug. 15.—More than thirty persons, half of whom are believed to have been foreign tourists, were probably burned to death on the slopes of Mt. Asamasyama, a usually passive volcano about ninety miles from this city, when it suddenly burst into violent eruption today. The volcano hsa been one of the big points of interest to the visitors to Japan's leading summer resort, Karuizawa, and the tourists who lost their lives today were from that place.

There is a well-traveled road extending from the bottom and winding along the sides of the mountain almost to the crater. Parties of tourists were toiling up this road when there came a sudden rumbling followed by a terrific explosion and hundreds of tons of molten lava poured from the top of the mountain and through the many fissures on the sides

All of the parties lower down on the mountain escaped. Abandoning their effects, they fled in terror and were soon out of harm's way.

Two big parties, however, were nearly at the summit. It is believed they were overwhelmed by the gaseous smoke and their bodies incinerated in the burning lava.

The identity of the tourists has not been learned, but it is believed they were Europeans.

Killed by Fall From Window.

Upper Sandusky, O., Aug. 16.—J. P. Caughey of Sycamore, 84, a patient at a sanitarium, was found dead on the ground below his window. It is believed he fell out of the window.

THESE PRETTY MAIDS ARE LEARNING TO MILK COWS, PLOUGH FIELDS AND HOPE TO BECOME "FARMERETTES"

MRS. BELMONT AND HER "FARMERETTES."

Marble House, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont's villa at Newport, R. I., has been viewed and approved, rather enjoyed, by the score of young women whom Mrs. Belmont is teaching to become "farmerettes" at her estate at Hempstead, R. I. They are "pupils" at the Bookbolt School of Agriculture, which means that each day they plough fields, sow and reap, milk cows and tend truck gardens.

Mrs. Belmont was very proud of her little party of girls who are answering the "back to the soil" cry, and introduced several of the society folk to them.

TAFT TALKS AT CAMP MEETING

Asks People To Help Boost the Peace Treaties.

PRESIDENT VERY MUCH IN EARNEST

He Addresses Immense Throng at Ocean Grove.

Taft Scores Senators Who Would Amend Arbitration Documents in Order To Preserve Their Prerogatives—Says They Are Elected by People Same as Executive and Should Yield to Public Opinion.

Ocean Grove, N. J., Aug. 16.—After being welcomed to New Jersey by Governor Woodrow Wilson, President Taft, in the presence of 8,000 people assembled at the Methodist camp meeting, made good his intention to carry before the people the fight between himself and the senate committee on foreign relations to save the Anglo-American and Franco-American arbitration treaties from the emasculatory amendments which the committee recomended to the senate for adoption.

Squarely Mr. Taft faced the criticism directed by the senators against the arbitration treaties—that they infringed upon the prerogatives of the senate and limited their treaty-making power. He advanced the power of the executive in this regard as equal to that of the senate, and said that the senate should give its pledge equally with the executive to secure the peaceful settlement of disputes. The amendment which the senate committee has voted to add, he declared, was not an amendment in fact, but was a vote to continue the negotiations by suggesting another form of treaty to be considered. He said:

Defines Powers of Senators.

"The powers of the senate as well as those of the executive are all derived from the people. Neither is more sacred than the other. I am the last person to minimize the importance of the senate's retaining its constitutional powers, and of its refusing to abdicate any function which that instrument gives it. I think its sensitiveness in regard to its power ought to be respected and not criticised or made light of.

"Still I think the senate or any members of it should think that its powers are greater or less than they are, and the limitations they insist upon interfere with progress toward peace, or any other great national or international policy, the question whether they are right or not must ultimately be referred back to the people, whose representatives the members of the senate are, for we all, as I say, have derived our powers from the people as the ultimate source of power, and in case of disagreement the proper place for a discussion of such an issue is before the people."

The president reminded his audience that if the country were to go in for arbitration, it must play the game, take its defeats with equanimity even when desiring victory, and abide by the decision of the court, which could not decide a case very well without hurting someone. He summed it up thus: "We can not make omelettes without breaking eggs."

Will Print Objections.

Washington, Aug. 16.—The senate in executive session decided to make public the report of the majority of the committee on foreign relations in favor of the amendment to the general arbitration treaties beween Great Britain and France. The report was written by Senator Lodge and concurred in by all his colleagues in the committee, Democrats and Republicans, except Senators Cullom, Burton and Root.

The senate agreed to the conference report on the wool bill by a vote of 38 to 28. The house having previously agreed to the report, the bill, after being signed by Vice President Sherman and Speaker Clark, will go to President Taft, and will undoubtedly be returned to congress with a veto message. The report was agreed to by Democratic and insurgent Republican votes. No Democrat voted against it.

Pomerene Gets Bailey's Job.

Washington, Aug. 16.—The resolution to probe the election expenses of Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin was favorably reported from the committee to audit contingent expenses of the senate and passed. At a meeting of the privileges and elections committee it was decided to appoint a subcommittee of five—three Republicans and two Democrats—to conduct the investigation. Senator Atlee Pomerene of Ohio was selected by the Democratic senators as a member of the committee to succeed Senator Bailey of Texas, who resigned.

Race Riot In Texas.

Galveston, Tex., Aug. 16.—Several persons were injured in a race riot at Jourdanton, Atascorea county, between Americans and Mexicans. First a Mexican was lynched by Americans for complicity in the murder of an American officer. Then when officers arrested another Mexican on the same charge, rival mobs of Americans and Mexicans fought to take the prisoner from the officers, but while they were fighting in front of the jail the Mexican was spirited away. Further trouble is expected.

NEBRASKAN WILL OPPOSE HARMON

Attorney General Hogan Muddles Situation.

THE SUPPORTERS OF GOVERNOR WORRIED

New Obstacles Confronts Governor's Candidacy.

By Refusing To Speak with Bryan Hogan, Instead of Helping Governor Harmon, Merely Creates a Situation That May Result in Solidifying Bryan Strength in Ohio Against Harmon.

Columbus, O., Aug. 15.—Governor Harmon's supporters have two things to worry them today, where they had only one yesterday.

The first is that William Jennings Bryan will, before long, come out in open opposition to the governor's presidential candidacy. The second, and the new worry, is the fact that Attorney General Hogan, by refusing to speak at the Bryan meeting at Olentangy park, last night, instead of helping Governor Harmon, merely created a situation that is expected to result in solidifying the Bryan strength in Ohio against the governor's candidacy.

While Bryan refrained from all mention of Governor Harmon in his speech before the Jefferson club yesterday, there are several Democrats who are in his confidence, who are saying that he will refuse, absolutely, to accept Harmon as the Democratic presidential nominee; and, at least one of them declares that Bryan will fight Harmon in the campaign should Ohio's governor be nominated.

Hogan's Views.

These Democrats point out that Bryan opposed the Democratic nominee for governor in Nebraska last year, and that, as a result, a progressive Republican was elected.

In refusing to speak at the Bryan meeting, Attorney General Hogan cast his political fortunes with Governor Harmon. In a statement given out Monday night, Hogan says that the officers of the Jefferson club "did not approve of my intention to refer to Governor Harmon favorably."

Hogan decided then and there, he says, that the meeting was to be a "factional demonstration against the man whom I intend to support with my last breath, so long as he adheres to the principles which he has always advocated as a public official."

In his statement, Hogan insists that he is a friend of Bryan and believes in what he advocates, but that he couldn't allow himself to be used in a meeting in opposition to Governor Harmon.

IRA SLOCUM HELD IN SERIOUS MATTER

Father of Little Helen Hooper Has Filed Charges.

Ira Slocum, thirty-five years old, a drayman employed by Foster, was locked up in the prison Tuesday afternoon. Although charges had not been preferred against him, the circumstances surrounding his arrest are peculiar.

Slocum was engaged in moving the household goods of J. E. Hooper, superintendent of the Starner-Copeland Shoe ompany, from the Park boulevard to Olney avenue.

It is claimed that Slocum attempted liberties with Helen, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hooper, in an upstairs room. The little girl broke away, and ran down stairs. The mother ran to the factory to get Mr. Hooper, who hurried to his home and found Slocum in the yard. He was punching him when C. C. Brown, a barber, who lives across the street, with three other men, ran over to see what the trouble was. Hooper explained, and Slocum was thrown into Brown's automobile and hurried over to police headquarters. He was turned over to Officer Thompson, who locked him up.

ASTOR'S FIANCEE IS REPORTED ILL

Miss Force Is Told To Take Complete Rest by Physician.

New York, Aug. 16.—Insisting that the indisposition of Miss Madeleine Force, the nineteen-year-old girl who is to marry Colonel John Jacob Astor, is not serious, members of the family today refused to make any public statement regarding the nature of her illness.

From other sources, however, it was learned that she is suffering from a bad attack of nerves resulting from the attacks made upon her proposed marriage to a man almost as old as her father.

While the family made an effort to keep the knowledge of the attacks from her, they failed. Since the announcement of her engagement August 1, Miss Force has been very much in the limelight. Both in this city and at Newport she has been the center of a round of entertainment, which told on her and when she returned to her home here, yesterday, she was extremely nervous. The family physician prescribed complete rest for a few days.

Womankind is divided into two classes—those who are married and those who want to be.
